2 Firemen Hurt During $5,000 Fire

Blaze Damages Riley Home While Family Is Away On Visit

A two-alarm fire caused an estimated $5,000 damage to a Riley Ave. home shortly after midnight.

Fire Chief Charles H. Bryan and Fireman Ed Greenwood were injured battling the blaze at the home of Fred Lilly, 679 Riley Ave., about a block from Ambrose Ave.

The fire originated in the cellarway and extended up through the wall and floor, burning out the stairway and into the second floor. The cause has not been determined.

Firemen fought the blaze over 2 hours before bringing it under control and finally extinguishing it. The first alarm was at 12:56, the second at 1:12 and the firemen returned to Central Station at 3:41 a. m.

Firemen said a neighbor turned in the alarm. The family had left early Friday evening on a trip. They returned early today.

The stairway to the cellar and the other going upstairs were burned out. A hole was burned through the floor in the dining-room and the blaze also extended in the walls to the second floor where it burned out around a window.

The house is covered with aluminum siding which contained the blaze but also made it difficult for firemen to get at the fire in the walls. Some of the siding had to be ripped loose so water could be sprayed onto the burning wood beneath.

The house also has storm windows high, along with the siding, kept all the heat and smoke inside. This caused heavy damage to the furniture, firemen said.

Chief Bryan slipped and fell through the hole in the floor, landing in the cellar below. He suffered an injury to his left arm while Greenwood received a knee injury while fighting the blaze.

The hole in the floor also allowed a large china closet to fall through to the cellar, firemen said.

Firemen had to use smoke masks to enter the home. Portable light plants were set up so they could see their way around.

Four streams of water were played on the house. Some 200 feet of 2½-inch line was laid from a hydrant. This was cut down to 1½-inch lines. Two booster lines from the trucks also were brought into play.

Three trucks, the emergency truck and the chief's car were on the scene. It is not known how long the fire had been burning before it was discovered.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME. The gaping hole at the base of the steps is where Chief Charles Bryan fell through while fighting the fire at the Fred Lilly residence on Riley Ave. early this morning. The china closet at the right also crashed through the floor and into the cellar. The blaze burned from the cellar up through to the second floor, causing a total of $5,000 loss.

East End Parking Law Compliance Requested

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver today asked motorists to comply with city ordinances that set two-hour limits on parking in two East End stretches—Mulberry St. between Pennsylvania Ave. and Railroad St. and Pennsylvania Ave. from Mulberry St. to Longs Alley.

The director said he has received several complaints that all-day parkers have moved in on the stretch — some leaving their autos there while they ride to work in Midland with a friend. Several disabled cars are reported parked in the same area, he said.

"We want to give the public fair warning that if the ordinance is not complied with police will be asked to issue tickets to violators," the director said.

AEC Belittles Atomic Waste Peril In River

Wheeling Gathering Told Chances Are 'One In A Million'

A crowd of 160 at Wheeling Friday heard what East Liverpool was told last summer — that radioactive wastes dumped in the Ohio River from the Shippingport atomic power plant have been but a fraction as toxic as the maximum permissable concentration for humans.

Wheeling district health authorities and public officials expressed alarm several weeks ago when the U. S. Public Health Service announced that a continuous check was being made along the stream on the atomic radiation content.

The USPHS advised the city administration last June there was no appreciable increase of polluted waste and the crowd in the Wheeling Council Chambers heard half a dozen government officials discuss the situation.

Atomic Energy Commission officials said there is some inherent danger in dumping such wastes in the river but insisted there is "one chance in a million — or none at all — that anyone will ever be harmed."

They added that the maximum permissable concentration figures are absolutely trustworthy and that the Shippingport unit, and all other industrial atomic installations, are operated so as not to "adversely effect man, his atmosphere or natural resources."

Dr. Joseph Lieberman, chief of AEC's environmental and sanitary engineering branch, said the protection of the public is the dominating criteria of all AEC enterprises.

As a result, the allowable limits for the toxicity of the discharge from the Shippingport plant reduced to one-fifteenth of what was considered humanly safe.

He said the plant was designed with extremely conservative limits on the radioactivity of its wastes.

E. B. Harwood of the Pittsburgh Naval Reactors Operations office and assigned to the Shippingport plant since 1955, explained how the treatment renders the refuse less toxic than required.

James G. Terrill, assistant chief of the Division of Radiological Health with the USPHS, said a system of monitoring to determine the radioactivity of the river be-

Gas Concern, Cities Confer On Settlement

City solicitors of six riverfront communities met Friday afternoon at Steubenville with representatives of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. to discuss the possibility of a negotiated settlement of the utility's request for a rate increase, which now is being processed before the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus.

No definite decision was reached, but the solicitors and the gas company representatives agreed to another meeting next Friday at Steubenville to renew the discussion.

Solicitor William L. Bush of Wellsville was the only district representative at the discussion. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper of East Liverpool expected to attend, but was delayed by a case in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon. Bellaire, Martins Ferry, Steubenville, Toronto and Wintersville also were represented.

As a prelude to the meeting in the Steubenville City Hall with the concern's representatives, the solicitors met at the Ft. Steuben Hotel with two Akron utility rate specialists employed to assist the municipalities in a fight against the rate application. The two specialists are Atty. John Zerbe and Atty. William Wasik.

Zerbe and Wasik reported they have received some of the information from the gas company which was requested by the cities when the PUCO held its first hearing at Columbus March 8-9. But more data from the concern still is being awaited, they said.

The solicitors decided that the respective City Councils will be asked to enact resolutions asking reopening of a case recently before the Federal Power Commission involving rates paid to its supplier by the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. The Ohio Valley Gas Co. rates are involved indirectly in the FPC case because Ohio Valley buys virtually all of its supply from Manufacturers, the solicitors pointed out.

Wellsville Man Hurt In Creek Plunge Of Car

A Wellsville motorist is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with injuries suffered when his car plunged into Yellow Creek off Route 213 near Route 7 below Wellsville early this morning.

Joseph Rood, 22, of 1023 Commerce St. suffered head lacerations, possible chest injuries and was in shock, hospital authorities said. He was admitted at 7:20 a. m.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol was notified of the mishap by the Lisbon barracks at 8:30 a. m.

Officers said Rood's car plunged off the highway, rolled over the embankment and landed in the creek.

Rood is employed at the Sterling China Co. and works the night shift. He rooms in Wellsville and usually goes to visit relatives in the Empire area each morning, according to his landlord.

Power Shovel Brought Into Crash Probe

Digging For Remains Of Turboprop That Exploded In Flight

TELL CITY, Ind. (AP) — Air crash detectives moved in a big power shovel today to dig for remains of a Northwest Airlines turboprop that exploded in flight and then drilled a crater in a southern Indiana farm.

They still had no idea whether a bomb, rough air or something else wrecked the craft and killed all 63 persons aboard late Thursday.

Meanwhile, Wen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), who lost his own son and daughter-in-law in a plane crash last January, was expected to meet with federal and state officials investigating the disaster.

In St. Paul, Northwest Airlines officials announced a plan to fly relatives of the victims to a memorial service at the scene next week.

The cause of the crash remained a frustrating mystery. The wreckage was so shattered that for clues investigators had only fragments of airplane and bodies.

Among possibilities still being checked were that violent turbulence might have shaken the airliner to pieces or that a bomb might have been planted aboard it.

The Civil Aeronautics Board quoted Air Force Capt. James P. Moore of Enon, Ohio, as saying he saw an aerial column of smoke dropping through the sky about the same time as the Northwest crash—and also about the same time heavy turbulence shook up his jet fighter during a flight over Louisville, Ky. The Northwest plane crashed about 60 miles west of Louisville.

Officials said they had found no specific clues indicating sabotage but still were unable to rule out that possibility.

The four-engine Lockheed Electra was bound from Minneapolis and Chicago to Miami when it exploded in the air in the 10th major air disaster in the world this year.

The body of the Electra plunged into a fiel din the midst of rugged Ohio River hills and blew up again, blasting a crater 25 feet deep and 40 feet across.

After moving the power shovel about a mile and a half from a road over snow-soggy ground, the investigators planned to use it to unearth wreckage and, possibly, bodies from the bottom of the crater in farmer Joe Wilson's field.

Questioning Avails Little

2 Numbers Writers Fined $700 In First Test Of New Law

Pair Admits Slaying Two Postal Men

License Number And Car Keys Lead To Arrest In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A scrawled license number on a bloodied paper and a set of car keys led police to two men Friday night who they say admitted the killing of two postal investigators who had seized them for mail theft.

The man who police said wielded the gun, George Wilson, 37, Negro, claimed he was high on dope and didn't know he had killed anyone.

"I didn't know I did it. I just felt good," he said. He related how one of his companions told him, "Shoot, shoot, shoot, squeeze and let's keep on squeezing."

Also arrested and held without charge was William Perkins, 36. A third man still at large, was Alan (Nick) Goulson, 32. Both are Negro also.

The men were sought in connection with the slaying of John McAuliffe Jr., 36, and Ben Spizzirri, 42, last Monday night on the southwest edge of the Loop.

Witnesses told of seeing the investigators arrest three men, remove two mail sacks from their car and then load the trio into a car. A fusillade of shots rang out and the Negroes fled, two in their own car. The investigators were found dead, slumped in the front seat.

The case was broken, police said, as a result of the number —541928—found on McAuliffe's notebook which lay in a pool of blood and by the keys found on Spizzirri.

At first police through the number was an old listing because it was written under a July heading. But crime lab technicians determined the ink was fresh. Then, after finding out the keys matched nothing around the Spizzirri home, they surmised the objects were connected with the murder car in which two of the three men had fled the scene. The third man reportedly escaped by jumping aboard a bus.

After tracing the number and keys, police limited their search to a South Side neighborhood. They spotted the car Friday and snared Wilson and Perkins as they were about to climb into it. Also picked up for questioning was Miss Irene Showers, alias Johnson, 23, who lived in the neighborhood and was with the two.

Bidding Set April 12 On Route 170 Project

The State Highway Department will receive bids April 12 at Columbus for the blacktop improvement of Route 170 for a distance of 5.77 miles in St. Clair Township.

The project calls for a pavement 20 feet wide for 6,336 feet and 18 feet wide for the remainder, 24,130 feet. Designated as Part 1, it is to be completed by July 30.

3 More Days To Register

To be eligible to vote in East Liverpool at the May 3 primary election, you must register with the County Election Board at 129 W. 6th St. if:

You haven't voted at a primary, general or special election in the last two years; you've changed your name by marriage or court action; you've changed your residence since the last election; you've become 21 since the last election or will be 21 on or before Nov. 8, the general election date.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has resided in Ohio for a year and in Columbiana County and his precinct 40 days prior to Election Day. East Liverpool is the only community in the county where voter registration is required.

Offer To Sign Treaty

President's Plan On Partial A-Test Ban OK'd By Reds

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet delegates today accepted conditionally President Eisenhower's plan for a partial nuclear-test ban.

They offered to sign an honor system treaty with the United States and Britain immediately to bar big tests — oceanic, atmospheric or underground—if the two Western powers join the Soviet Union in a promise to refrain indefinitely from conducting small underground blasts.

Under the Soviet proposal there would be no international control to insure compliance with the moratorium.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told a special meeting of the long deadlocked Big Three nuclear conference that the moratorium would be accompanied by a joint three-power scientific study to deal with the problem of small underground blasts. This is the sort of explosions the United States maintains cannot be policed with existing detection techniques.

Tsarapkin blamed the United States for the conference's inability to conclude a comprehensive treaty. U. S. Ambassador James L. Wadsworth challenged him on this ground.

But both Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore characterized Tsarapkin's proposal as an important statement.

"There can be no doubt of this," Wadsworth said.

Tsarapkin's move came three days after the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission had announced plans for Operation Gnome, the explosion of a nuclear device for peaceful scientific purposes planned in New Mexico next January.

Judge Cites Menace Of Racket War

'Front' Man Names Canton Operator As Pickup Of Play Here

East Liverpool will be made into "a no man's land for numbers writers" to prevent it from becoming "a bloody battleground for opposing racket factions," Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff warned Friday afternoon after imposing $350 fines on 2 numbers writers — the first arrested under a stringent anti-gambling ordinance enacted by Council in late December.

Harry (Nig) Johnson, 1102 Chestnut St., whose novelty store a half block from City Hall served as a "front" for a numbers collecting point, and Benton Jamison, 115½ W. 6th St., identified as a small fry writer employed by Johnson, both were ordered held in City Jail until their $356 penalties are paid. But they paid and were not jailed.

Judge Chertoff also imposed a 30-day jail sentence on Johnson, but suspended it because of the defendant's physical condition. He commented that he felt a 30-day term in the local jail "would be detrimental to your health," but warned that a second conviction on a numbers charge will lead to the maximum sentence of 6 months, plus the imposition of the suspended sentence.

Judge Chertoff questioned the two defendants at length from the bench before imposing sentence, commenting that "their degree of response may affect the sentence." However, he learned little of value for a further investigation except that Johnson works for a "Big John" in Canton and that a pickup man comes here every day from the Stark County city to collect the receipts.

Both men were taken into custody by Patrolman Charles A. Winters, working under instructions from Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi.

"I hope this serves as a warning that we will not tolerate numbers or any other kind of gambling in East Liverpool," the chief said.

Johnson was arrested about 2 p. m. in the Buckeye Specialty Co. novelty store, 207 W. 6th St., a small frame building on the north side of W. 6th a short distance west of Jackson St. Johnson's store had been under surveillance for several days after a report it was serving as a center of numbers activity, the chief said.

Jamison was arrested about noon in Diamond Alley after he was observed going in and out of a number of business places and taverns, the chief said. Although Jamison was suspected at first of being a local "pickup man," he evidently was a writer working on his own, the chief said.

Six numbers books were confiscated in Johnson's novelty shop

Truck Driver Faces Quiz In Slaying Of 3

Vehicle Similar To His Reported Seen In Area Of Killings

OTTAWA, Ill (AP) — Police planned today to question a truck driver in the slaying of three socialites whose holiday from housework ended in a canyon at Starved Rock State Park.

State Police Supt. William Morris said he wanted to question the driver because a truck similar to his was reported seen by three persons Monday afternoon in a parking lot across the road from a trail leading into St. Louis Canyon.

It was in a shallow cave in the canyon that the bodies of the three matrons—showing signs of having been raped—were found Wednesday.

A search for them began after their husbands became alarmed.

Morris said the truck driver's vehicle contained twine like that used to bind the wrists of two of the victims. The twine found in the truck was flown to the State Police laboratory in Springfield for comparison with the twine tied around the women's wrists.

Twine found in the kitchen of the park lodge was also sent to the crime lab.

Morris said the truck driver insisted his truck was not in the park Monday but had been there Saturday when he had taken his children for a hike into the canyon.

The women, who disappeared Monday shortly after checking into the lodge, were wives of Chicago business executives and lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

Toronto Gridder Made Ill By Fumes Of Car

A Toronto High School football player was treated at City Hospital Friday afternoon after apparently being overcome by car exhaust fumes while en route through the city.

Kenny C. Sutherin, 17, of 607 N. 4th St. was treated by a physician after he was found slumped over the wheel of his auto stopped for a traffic signal at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts.

Police said an ambulance was called but the semi-conscious youth was taken to the hospital in his car. There was a strong odor of fumes, apparently from the exhaust, police said.

Burglars Get $1,000 Cash, $200 In Rings

Filing Cabinet With Money Stolen From Chester Residence

Four used rings valued at an estimated $200 and over $1,000 in cash were stolen from the home of a Chester barber shop operator Friday night.

The robbery was one of two reported last night by Chester police.

Thieves entered through the basement of the one-story residence of Howard Ferguson, 107 Carolina Ave., and made off with the 4 rings, over $1,000 in bills of small denomination and a small filing cabinet where the cash was stored.

Ferguson, operator of Ferguson's Barber Shop on 1st St., said his home was entered sometime before 1 a. m. today. He discovered the robbery when he returned home at that hour, he said.

The thieves also scooped up a large amount of dimes from a cash register and dumped them into a pillow case which they carried off with the rings and bills, mostly of $1 denomination.

The rings taken from a bedroom included a wedding band worth $20, a diamond ring valued at $70, a light, brown cameo worth $48 and a black onyx ring worth $85.

Gun Fire Echoes In La Paz

National Police Regiment Stages Revolt In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A regiment of national police revolted against the government today. Loyal military forces claimed they had the situation under control, but mortar and small arms fire still echoed through the city.

The government radio station said the uprising had been staged by "a reactionary subversive" group. It ordered the People's Militia to seal off all streets leading from Avelino Aliaga Barracks, the rebel headquarters in the northern part of the capital.

The People's Militia, established in 1952 to supplement the armed forces, was ordered to let no rebels escape.

President Hernan Siles Zuazo and other leading officials went to an army headquarters in the southern sector of the city to direct activities for restoration of order.

The reason for the rebellion was not immediately known, but presumably the leaders were not aligned with either of the two candidates now waging a tense campaign for the presidency.

This belief was bolstered by the fact that both candidates—Victor Paz Estenssoro and Walter Guevara—pledged support to President Siles and called upon their followers to help put down the rebellion.

Prelate Faces 20-Year Term

U.S. To Protest Strongly Red China's Jailing Bishop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will make the "strongest possible protest" to Red China for giving a 20-year prison sentence to an ailing 68-year-old American prelate, Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Friday "I find it difficult to emphasize sufficiently the revulsion that I, personally, and the U.S. government feel today.

"I am instructing our ambassador at Warsaw to lodge the strongest possible protest with the representative of the Chinese Communist regime at their next meeting Tuesday, March 22."

The United States does not recognize Red China and has no diplomatic relations with the country. However for the past 18 months Ambassador Jacob D. Beam at Warsaw and the Red Chinese ambassador there, Wang Ping-nan, have been maintaining formal contact. One purpose of the periodic talks is to try to obtain the release of a handful of American prisoners in Red China.

Peiping radio said Friday that Bishop Walsh admitted plotting to overthrow the Communist government. The prelate had been in China since 1948, and remained at his Shanghai post after the Communists took over the next year. He refused an offer to return home in 1955.

Gun Fire Echoes In La Paz

National Police Regiment Stages Revolt In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A regiment of national police revolted against the government today. Loyal military forces claimed they had the situation under control, but mortar and small arms fire still echoed through the city.

The government radio station said the uprising had been staged by "a reactionary subversive" group. It ordered the People's Militia to seal off all streets leading from Avelino Aliaga Barracks, the rebel headquarters in the northern part of the capital.

The People's Militia, established in 1952 to supplement the armed forces, was ordered to let no rebels escape.

President Hernan Siles Zuazo and other leading officials went to an army headquarters in the southern sector of the city to direct activities for resteration of order.

The reason for the rebellion was not immediately known, but presumably the leaders were not aligned with either of the two candidates now waging a tense campaign for the presidency.

This belief was bolstered by the fact that both candidates—Victor Paz Estenssoro and Walter Guevara—pledged support to President Siles and called upon their followers to help put down the rebellion.

License Number And Car Keys Lead To Arrest In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A scrawled license number on a bloodied paper and a set of car keys led police to two men Friday night who they say admitted the killing of two postal investigators who had seized them for mail theft.

The man who police said wielded the gun, George Wilson, 37, Negro, claimed he was high on dope and didn't know he had killed anyone.

"I didn't know I did it. I just felt good," he said. He related how one of his companions told him, "Shoot, shoot, shoot, squeeze and let's keep on squeezing."

Also arrested and held without charge was William Perkins, 36. A third man still at large, was Alan (Nick) Goulson, 32. Both are Negro also.

The men were sought in connection with the slaying of John McAuliffe Jr., 36, and Ben Spizzirri, 42, last Monday night on the southwest edge of the Loop.

Witnesses told of seeing the investigators arrest three men, remove two mail sacks from their car and then load the trio into a car. A fusillade of shots rang out and the Negroes fled, two in their own car. The investigators were found dead, slumped in the front seat.

The case was broken, police said, as a result of the number —841928—found on McAuliffe's notebook which lay in a pool of blood and by the keys found on Spizzirri.

At first police through the number was an old listing because it was written under a July heading. But crime lab technicians determined the ink was fresh. Then, after finding out the keys matched nothing around the Spizzirri home, they surmised the objects were connected with the murder car in which two of the three men had fled the scene. The third man reportedly escaped by jumping aboard a bus.

After tracing the number and keys, police limited their search to a South Side neighborhood. They spotted the car Friday and snared Wilson and Perkins as they were about to climb into it. Also picked up for questioning was Miss Irene Showers, alias Johnson, 23, who lived in the neighborhood and was with the two.

Offer To Sign Treaty

President's Plan On Partial A-Test Ban OK'd By Reds

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet delegates today accepted conditionally President Eisenhower's plan for a partial nuclear-test ban.

They offered to sign an honor system treaty with the United States and Britain immediately to bar big tests — oceanic, atmospheric or underground—if the two Western powers join the Soviet Union in a promise to refrain indefinitely from conducting small underground blasts.

Under the Soviet proposal there would be no international control to insure compliance with the moratorium.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told a special meeting of the long deadlocked Big Three nuclear conference that the moratorium would be accompanied by a joint three-power scientific study to deal with the problem of small underground blasts. This is the sort of explosions the United States maintains cannot be policed with existing detection techniques.

Tsarapkin blamed the United States for the conference's inability to conclude a comprehensive treaty. U. S. Ambassador James L. Wadsworth challenged him on this ground.

But both Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore characterized Tsarapkin's proposal as an important statement.

"There can be no doubt of this," Wadsworth said.

Tsarapkin's move came three days after the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission had announced plans for Operation Gnome, the explosion of a nuclear device for peaceful scientific purposes planned in New Mexico next January.

Truck Driver Faces Quiz In Slaying Of 3

Vehicle Similar To His Reported Seen In Area Of Killings

OTTAWA, Ill (AP) — Police planned today to question a truck driver in the slaying of three socialites whose holiday from housework ended in a canyon at Starved Rock State Park.

State Police Supt. William Morris said he wanted to question the driver because a truck similar to his was reported seen by three persons Monday afternoon in a parking lot across the road from a trail leading into St. Louis Canyon.

It was in a shallow cave in the canyon that the bodies of the three matrons—showing signs of having been raped—were found Wednesday.

A search for them began after their husbands became alarmed.

Morris said the truck driver's vehicle contained twine like that used to bind the wrists of two of the victims. The twine found in the truck was flown to the State Police laboratory in Springfield for comparison with the twine tied around the women's wrists.

Twine found in the kitchen of the park lodge was also sent to the crime lab.

Morris said the truck driver insisted his truck was not in the park Monday but had been there Saturday when he had taken his children for a hike into the canyon.

The women, who disappeared Monday shortly after checking into the lodge, were wives of Chicago business executives and lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

Toronto Gridder Made Ill By Fumes Of Car

A Toronto High School football player was treated at City Hospital Friday afternoon after apparently being overcome by car exhaust fumes while en route through the city.

Kenny C. Sutherin, 17, of 607 N. 4th St. was treated by a physician after he was found slumped over the wheel of his auto stopped for a traffic signal at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts.

Police said an ambulance was called but the semi-conscious youth was taken to the hospital in his car. There was a strong odor of fumes, apparently from the exhaust, police said.

Burglars Get $1,000 Cash, $200 In Rings

Filing Cabinet With Money Stolen From Chester Residence

Four used rings valued at an estimated $200 and over $1,000 in cash were stolen from the home of a Chester barber shop operator Friday night.

The robbery was one of two reported last night by Chester police.

Thieves entered through the basement of the one-story residence of Howard Ferguson, 107 Carolina Ave., and made off with the 4 rings, over $1,000 in bills of small denomination and a small filing cabinet where the cash was stored.

Ferguson, operator of Ferguson's Barber Shop on 1st St., said his home was entered sometime before 1 a. m. today. He discovered the robbery when he returned home at that hour, he said.

The thieves also scooped up a large amount of dimes from a cash register and dumped them into a pillow case which they carried off with the rings and bills, mostly of $1 denomination.

The rings taken from a bedroom included a wedding band worth $20, a diamond ring valued at $70, a light, brown cameo worth $48 and a black onyx ring worth $85.

Judge Cites Menace Of Racket War

'Front' Man Names Canton Operator As Pickup Of Play Here

East Liverpool will be made into "a no man's land for numbers writers" to prevent it from becoming "a bloody battleground for opposing racket factions," Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff warned Friday afternoon after imposing $350 fines on 2 numbers writers — the first arrested under a stringent anti-gambling ordinance enacted by Council in late December.

Harry (Nig) Johnson, 1102 Chestnut St., whose novelty store a half block from City Hall served as a "front" for a numbers collecting point, and Benton Jamison, 115½ W. 6th St., identified as a small fry writer employed by Johnson, both were ordered held in City Jail until their $356 penalties are paid. But they paid and were not jailed.

Judge Chertoff also imposed a 30-day jail sentence on Johnson, but suspended it because of the defendant's physical condition. He commented that he felt a 30-day term in the local jail "would be detrimental to your health," but warned that a second conviction on a numbers charge will lead to the maximum sentence of 6 months, plus the imposition of the suspended sentence.

Judge Chertoff questioned the two defendants at length from the bench before imposing sentence, commenting that "their degree of response may affect the sentence." However, he learned little of value for a further investigation except that Johnson works for a "Big John" in Canton and that a pickup man comes here every day from the Stark County city to collect the receipts.

Both men were taken into custody by Patrolman Charles A. Winters, working under instructions from Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi.

"I hope this serves as a warning that we will not tolerate numbers or any other kind of gambling in East Liverpool," the chief said.

Johnson was arrested about 2 p. m. in the Buckeye Specialty Co. novelty store, 207 W. 6th St., a small frame building on the north side of W. 6th a short distance west of Jackson St. Johnson's store had been under surveillance for several days after a report it was serving as a center of numbers activity, the chief said.

Jamison was arrested about noon in Diamond Alley after he was observed going in and out of a number of business places and taverns, the chief said. Although Jamison was suspected at first of being a local "pickup man," he evidently was a writer working on his own, the chief said.

Six numbers books were confiscated in Johnson's novelty shop

Prelate Faces 20-Year Term

U.S. To Protest Strongly Red China's Jailing Bishop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will make the "strongest possible protest" to Red China for giving a 20-year prison sentence to an ailing 68-year-old American prelate, Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Friday "I find it difficult to emphasize sufficiently the revulsion that I, personally, and the U.S. government feel today.

"I am instructing our ambassador at Warsaw to lodge the strongest possible protest with the representative of the Chinese Communist regime at their next meeting Tuesday, March 22."

The United States does not recognize Red China and has no diplomatic relations with the country. However for the past 18 months Ambassador Jacob D. Beam at Warsaw and the Red Chinese ambassador there, Wang Ping-nan, have been maintaining formal contact. One purpose of the periodic talks is to try to obtain the release of a handful of American prisoners in Red China.

Peiping radio said Friday that Bishop Walsh admitted plotting to overthrow the Communist government. The prelate had been in China since 1948, and remained at his Shanghai post after the Communists took over the next year. He refused an offer to return home in 1955.

Tallahassee Tense

Southern Officers Alerted For More Racial Trouble

By The Associated Press

Law enforcement authorities were alerted today for further sitdown demonstrations in racially tense Tallahassee, Fla., while eating facilities at a Virginia store were integrated for the first time—on a standup basis.

Memphis, Tenn., reported its initial snack counter sitdown Friday. There were demonstrations in Georgia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, picketing in North Carolina and court action in South Carolina and Florida.

A Tallahassee Negro leader, the Rev. C. A. Hunter, announced plans for another sitdown in the Florida capital, scene of demonstrations the past five Saturdays and a near riot a week ago.

But the heads of two state universities, white Florida State and Negro Florida A. & M., urged their students to refrain from further mass protests against segregated eating places.

At St. Augustine, Fla., city officials and businessmen set up a bi-racial committee to discuss human relations in line with President Eisenhower's recent recommendation. The decision followed a brief outbreak of violence during a lunch counter sitdown Thursday.

The vertical integration occurred at a Suffolk, Va., variety store lunch counter which was opened to all comers — Negroes and white persons — after all the stools were removed. Crowds of Negroes jammed the counter. The store closed two weeks ago after a series of sitdown protests.

Twelve Negro youths sat down at a snack counter for whites in a Memphis, Tenn., variety store but were refused service. The store closed and the youths left before police arrived.

Groups of Negro students staged sitdowns at a variety store in Norfolk, Va., and at two variety stores in Bluefield, W.Va. Negro high school pupils picketed two downtown stores in New Bern, N.C., but did not enter. Had they done so there might have been trouble. Police said the lunch counter seats were occupied by white youths apparently waiting for the Negroes to show up.

Five Negroes were arrested at a downtown Savannah, Ga., department store when they refused to leave a restaurant. Three Negroes were arrested at the same store earlier this week.

At Baltimore, a Negro college student and the white manager of a restaurant were arrested on complaints growing out of a sitdown demonstration by about 100 Negroes. The restaurant then closed for the day.

Fifteen Negro college students pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges at Columbia, S.C. They admitted taking part in a stick-swinging rampage at a white drive-in restaurant March 5 during which two parked cars were battered by sticks and bricks and a white woman injured by broken glass.

Trial of 15 of the 388 Negro students arrested during an anti-segregation parade Tuesday began in Orangeburg, S.C. They were charged with breach of the peace. State prosecutors said they plan to try the others in groups of 15.

At Tallahassee, 11 Negroes were convicted of disturbing the peace in connection with a Feb. 20 sitdown. Eight went to jail rather than pay $300 fines.

Penalty Of $25 Fixed For Old Traffic Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday afternoon suspended $25 of the fine of $50 and costs which he imposed on a Hancock County trucker March 11 as the aftermath of a 4-way crash on Dresden Ave. March 8.

Judge Chertoff fixed the penalty for Stanley O. Taylor, 54, of New Cumberland R. D. 1, who was accused of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. When decreeing the fine a week ago, the judge made it subject to review yesterday to await the outcome of the condition of a woman driver hurt in the crash.

The crash involved Taylor's tractor-trailer, another big rig, a panel truck and the car of Mrs. Mae M. Rohall, 43, of the Old Fredericktown Rd. It was a "chain reaction" crash, allegedly set off when Taylor's rig skidded on icy pavement and hit another tractor trailer, which then hit the panel truck and knocked it into the rear of Mrs. Rohall's halted car.

Castro Makes Promise On Industrial Program

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government is promising Cuban workers a 400 per cent return on contributions to an ambitious industrialization progam.

The cabinet, seeking new revenue sources, set up a checkoff system Friday for workers to make voluntary contributions of 4 per cent of their pay to the program.

The workers will receive "people's savings certificates" redeemable at 400 per cent of their original worth after 20 years. The certificates range in value from $25 to $200.

Board Awaits 2 Conferences

Members of the Hancock County Board of Education will attend spring educational conferences next month in Berkeley Springs and Chicago.

At the Berkeley Springs session April 6-8, Supt. Robert H. Hall will become president-elect of the West Virginia Association of School Administrators.

The administrators' group will meet jointly with the West Virginia Association of County School Boards, headed by Dr. W. Dale Williams of New Cumberland. Dr. Williams also is president of the Hancock County Board.

"Maintaining Educational Leadership" will be the conference theme for the session in Cacapon Lodge.

The board also will attend the conference of the National School Board Association April 24-27 in Chicago. The theme will be "Education for World Leadership."

Attending the two sessions will be Dr. Williams and Supt. Hall, Robert Lindsey, assistant county superintendent, and John Boyd of Chester, J. Fred Allison of Newell, and Mrs. Mary Swartz and Robert Miller, both of Weirton.

Supt. Hall also will attend a conference of the American Association of School Administrators April 28-May 1. The state presidents' conference will be held in St. Louis, Mo.

The Hancock board will meet Monday night at 8 in New Cumberland High School. Williams will preside. Routine business is on the agenda.

Vacation Plan For Firemen Waits Council

City Council is scheduled to act Monday night on an ordinance providing a new vacation plan for the fire department.

The "new" measure essentially returns the department to the system it followed in the days of the 72-hour week, prior to adoption of the 54-hour week and the 3-platoon system a few years ago.

The ordinance provides that a fireman with less than 15 years' service will receive 15 days of annual leave and those who have completed 15 years will receive an additional 7 days of vacation. In addition, all firemen will receive one more day of annual leave to help compensate them for times on which they are called back to duty to help fight major fires, the ordinance provides.

The new ordinance also allows individual vacations, as compared with the present platoon system of annual leave. At present, all members of one platoon take their vacations at the same time while the other platoons work extra shifts to make up for the missing manpower.

The present ordinance calls for an 1-day annual vacation, making no distinction for men with longer service. The firemen agreed to the change in the vacation plan a few years ago when Council reduced the work week from 72 hours to 54 hours.

Council also is scheduled to act on a resolution deferred from the session March 7. It authorizes Mayor Bert H. Goodballet to become a member of the recently reactivated Columbiana County Mayors' Association.

The regular meeting will begin at 8. Council will caucus at 7 with representatives of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which is preparing to give up a contract under which it furnishes and services the police department radio system. Council will confer with the telephone company spokesmen as part of its preparation for seeking a new service contractor.

Help Children Prepare For College

Practically every youth wishing to enter college must take an "aptitude test". A few weeks or months before doing so, some applicants will frantically try to get ready for this, even employing someone to coach them. But studies of the effect of such coaching indicate it is fruitless. Aptitude tests for college entrance are practically coaching-proof. True, they are heavily loaded with questions on vocabulary. Yet cramming on long lists of words can hardly prove useful. One gains a vocabulary from wide, useful reading over a number of years, and form mingling with other persons who have rich vocabularies.

By Garry Meyer.

THE WAY to prepare a child for an aptitude test is to begin with him in early childhood in a home with parents who speak English clearly and accurately and enrich their own vocabulary from constant reading; by reading constantly to him from the time he is two or three years old and continuously thereafter; by finding ways to help him learn to read well and to stimulate him to read for pleasure while he goes to school.

You prepare him by finding ways to help him cultivate good home-study habits, going at his homework regularly and sticking to it faithfully and persistently. In short, by helping him at home as much as possible to succeed in book learning at school.

Of course not all children have the ability to do well at school learning even under the most favorable home and school influences.

YET PRACTICALLY all children could be guided and helped to achieve far more learning than they do achieve. Ever so many children with average or superior ability to learn, who otherwise would never be able to pass an aptitude test for college entrance, could pass the test with flying colors if they were given adequate home guidance.

What we parents, eager for our child to enter college, need to remember is that for him to do so he needs the best possible guidance and education in all his years from infancy. He needs most of all to learn to read well; to read and read more and more as he goes through the grades and high school and practices without ceasing in good habits of mental work. There is no magic or royal road to learning.

Senate Tables Plan On Federal Registrars

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Friday tabled a proposal to provide federal registrars in areas where the president believed Negroes seeking to register and vote were discriminated against. The vote was 53-24.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) voted against tabling the measure and Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) did not vote but was announced as paired against tabling.

Accused Slayer Got 'Kick' Out Of Murder On TV

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A cousin of a steelworker charged with murdering two young babysitters says he "seemed to get a kick out of reading about murder and watching it on TV."

"He would walk up and down in front of the TV like this," said Rose Marie Holley, clenching and opening her fists," and with a wild look in his eye."

Miss Holley testified Friday at a hearing on a petition to have the accused, Henry Clay Warth, given a mental examination.

Warth, who will be 29 Sunday, admitted in a signed statement to police that he shot down Linda Qualls, 12, and her 13-year-old cousin, Penny Qualls, as they were babysitting with his two children March 11.

Police arrested him six hours later. His only explanation was that he had been drinking and the shooting "just happened."

His mother, Mrs. Lillian Blevins, testified a childhood illness had left him deaf and he only completed the seventh grade in school.

"He was so nervous and he had such headaches," she said, "Yes, I think he is a sick man."

Judge Ernest E. Winters took the petition under advisement in Common Pleas Court and said he would announce his decision next week.

HE RE-GREW HAIR

Warren Feathers, Claysburg, Penna. (near Altoona), shows he regrew hair by the Lesley Home Treatment Method.

Hair Specialist Here Tomorrow; Will Show How To Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO on SUNDAY, MARCH 20, 1960 only.

MR. W. A. CLARK, representing the Lesley Hair and Scalp Specialists, will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 P. M. tomorrow at the TRAVELERS HOTEL.

The Lesley Specialists point out that remarkable results have been attained by means of a personal examination followed by simple individual treatments that anyone can easily carry out in the privacy of his or her own home. Regular checkups in your city by a Lesley Specialist assure success in the minimum period of time.

EXAMINE YOU FREE

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond. The cost of our treatments are appreciably lower than most treatments of this type.

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

The Lesley Organization urges that you do not resign yourself to a future without hair.

When you first notice your hair thinning, brought on usually by dandruff, itching, dryness, oiliness or follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea, take positive action at once. See a Hair & Scalp Specialist.

Of course, we must have a client who still has some hair. If a person is completely bald, he waited too long and is refused treatment. However, if your scalp is still producing short hair it is possible to at least save and thicken what you have.

Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

If you continue to overlook nature's danger signals you are headed for baldness. Hair loss can nearly always be prevented, but it will not stop voluntarily, of its own accord, once the loss begins. It's up to you to take definite action to stop it.

Claudia Atwood
Evansville, Indiana

Mrs. Claudia Atwood, Evansville, Ind., says of the Lesley Home treatment method. "I am very well pleased with the progress I have made by the use of your treatment. It is almost back to the original condition now and I feel that with the continued care I have been taking that in a very short time it will be normal again."

SATISFACTION FOR 96.3%

Last year, the Lesley Organization was able to satisfy 96.3% of its clients. That is a note-worthy record, and we are justifiably proud of it.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE

The Lesley Organization gives a written guarantee when you are accepted for a scalp treatment. You must be satisfied within Guarantee Period or money will be refunded.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Do yourself a favor. It takes less than 20 minutes for your free examination.

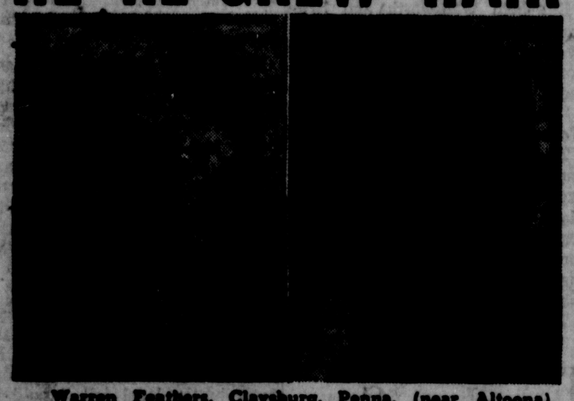
HE RE-GREW HAIR



Warren Feathers, Claysburg, Penna. (near Altoona), shows he regrew hair by the Lesley Home Treatment Method.

Hair Specialist Here Tomorrow; Will Show How To Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO on SUNDAY, MARCH 20, 1960 only.

MR. W. A. CLARK, representing the Lesley Hair and Scalp Specialists, will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 P. M. tomorrow at the TRAVELERS HOTEL.

The Lesley Specialists point out that remarkable results have been attained by means of a personal examination followed by simple individual treatments that anyone can easily carry out in the privacy of his or her own home. Regular checkups in your city by a Lesley Specialist assure success in the minimum period of time.

EXAMINE YOU FREE

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond. The cost of our treatments are appreciably lower than most treatments of this type.

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

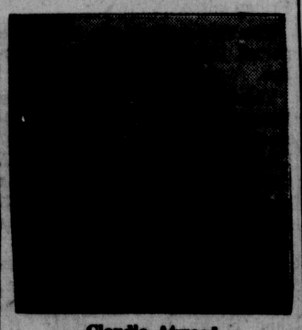
The Lesley Organization urges that you do not resign yourself to a future without hair.

When you first notice your hair thinning, brought on usually by dandruff, itching, dryness, oiliness or follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea, take positive action at once. See a Hair & Scalp Specialist.

Of course, we must have a client who still has some hair. If a person is completely bald, he waited too long and is refused treatment. However, if your scalp is still producing short hair it is possible to at least save and thicken what you have.

Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

If you continue to overlook nature's danger signals you are headed for baldness. Hair loss can nearly always be prevented, but it will not stop voluntarily, of its own accord, once the loss begins. It's up to you to take definite action to stop it.



Claudia Atwood
Evansville, Indiana

Mrs. Claudia Atwood, Evansville, Ind., says of the Lesley Home treatment method. "I am very well pleased with the progress I have made by the use of your treatment. It is almost back to the original condition now and I feel that with the continued care I have been taking that in a very short time it will be normal again."

SATISFACTION FOR 96.3%

Last year, the Lesley Organization was able to satisfy 96.3% of its clients. That is a note-worthy record, and we are justifiably proud of it.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE

The Lesley Organization gives a written guarantee when you are accepted for a scalp treatment. You must be satisfied within Guarantee Period or money will be refunded.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Do yourself a favor. It takes less than 20 minutes for your free examination.

Stop by the TRAVELERS HOTEL, SUNDAY, only, MARCH 20, between 1:00 P.M. and 8:00 P.M. Ask at the desk for MR. CLARK'S room number. He does not work by appointment. Come at your convenience. Examinations are given privately. You will not be obligated or embarassed in any way.

NO TREATMENT OF ANY KIND IS ADMINISTERED AT THE CLINIC.

Penalty Of $25 Fixed For Old Traffic Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday afternoon suspended $25 of the fine of $50 and costs which he imposed on a Hancock County trucker March 11 as the aftermath of a 4-way crash on Dresden Ave. March 8.

Judge Chertoff fixed the penalty for Stanley O. Taylor, 54, of New Cumberland R. D. 1, who was accused of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. When decreasing the fine a week ago, the judge made it subject to review yesterday to await the outcome of the condition of a woman driver hurt in the crash.

The crash involved Taylor's tractor-trailer, another big rig, a panel truck and the car of Mrs. Mae M. Rohall, 43, of the Old Fredericktown Rd. It was a "chain reaction" crash, allegedly set off when Taylor's rig skidded on icy pavement and hit another tractor trailer, which then hit the panel truck and knocked it into the rear of Mrs. Rohall's halted car.

Board Awaits 2 Conferences

Members of the Hancock County Board of Education will attend spring educational conferences next month in Berkeley Springs and Chicago.

At the Berkeley Springs session April 6-8, Supt. Robert H. Hall will become president-elect of the West Virginia Association of School Administrators.

The administrators' group will meet jointly with the West Virginia Association of County School Boards, headed by Dr. W. Dale Williams of New Cumberland. Dr. Williams also is president of the Hancock County Board.

"Maintaining Educational Leadership" will be the conference theme for the session in Cacapon Lodge.

The board also will attend the conference of the National School Board Association April 24-27 in Chicago. The theme will be "Education for World Leadership."

Attending the two sessions will be Dr. Williams and Supt. Hall, Robert Lindsey, assistant county superintendent, and John Boyd of Chester, J. Fred Allison of Newell, and Mrs. Mary Swartz and Robert Miller, both of Weirton.

Supt. Hall also will attend a conference of the American Association of School Administrators April 28-May 1. The state presidents' conference will be held in St. Louis, Mo.

The Hancock board will meet Monday night at 8 in New Cumberland High School. Williams will preside. Routine business is on the agenda.

Vacation Plan For Firemen Waits Council

City Council is scheduled to act Monday night on an ordinance providing a new vacation plan for the fire department.

The "new" measure essentially returns the department to the system it followed in the days of the 72-hour week, prior to adoption of the 54-hour week and the 3-platoon system a few years ago.

The ordinance provides that a fireman with less than 15 years' service will receive 15 days of annual leave and those who have completed 15 years will receive an additional 7 days of vacation. In addition, all firemen will receive one more day of annual leave to help compensate them for times on which they are called back to duty to help fight major fires, the ordinance provides.

The new ordinance also allows individual vacations, as compared with the present platoon system of annual leave. At present, all members of one platoon take their vacations at the same time while the other platoons work extra shifts to make up for the missing manpower.

The present ordinance calls for an 1-day annual vacation, making no distinction for men with longer service. The firemen agreed to the change in the vacation plan a few years ago when Council reduced the work week from 72 hours to 54 hours.

Council also is scheduled to act on a resolution deferred from the session March 7. It authorizes Mayor Bert H. Goodballet to become a member of the recently reactivated Columbiana County Mayors' Association.

The regular meeting will begin at 8. Council will caucus at 7 with representatives of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which is preparing to give up a contract under which it furnishes and services the police department radio system. Council will confer with the telephone company spokesmen as part of its preparation for seeking a new service contractor.

Bringing Up A Family

Help Children Prepare For College

Practically every youth wishing to enter college must take an "aptitude test". A few weeks or months before doing so, some applicants will frantically try to get ready for this, even employing someone to coach them. But studies of the effect of such coaching indicate it is fruitless. Aptitude tests for college entrance are practically coaching-proof. True, they are heavily loaded with questions on vocabulary. Yet cramming on long lists of words can hardly prove useful. One gains a vocabulary from wide, useful reading over a number of years, and form mingling with other persons who have rich vocabularies.

By Garry Meyer.

THE WAY to prepare a child for an aptitude test is to begin with him in early childhood in a home with parents who speak English clearly and accurately and enrich their own vocabulary from constant reading; by reading constantly to him from the time he is two or three years old and continuously thereafter; by finding ways to help him learn to read well and to stimulate him to read for pleasure while he goes to school.

You prepare him by finding ways to help him cultivate good home-study habits, going at his homework regularly and sticking to it faithfully and persistently. In short, by helping him at home as much as possible to succeed in book learning at school.

Of course not all children have the ability to do well at school learning even under the most favorable home and school influences.

YET PRACTICALLY all children could be guided and helped to achieve far more learning than they do achieve. Ever so many children with average or superior ability to learn, who otherwise would never be able to pass an aptitude test for college entrance, could pass the test with flying colors if they were given adequate home guidance.

What we parents, eager for our child to enter college, need to remember is that for him to do so he needs the best possible guidance and education in all his years from infancy. He needs most of all to learn to read well; to read and read more and more as he goes through the grades and high school and practices without ceasing in good habits of mental work. There is no magic or royal road to learning.

Accused Slayer Got 'Kick' Out Of Murder On TV

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A cousin of a steelworker charged with murdering two young babysitters says he "seemed to get a kick out of reading about murder and watching it on TV."

"He would walk up and down in front of the TV like this," said Rose Marie Holley, clenching and opening her fists," and with a wild look in his eye."

Miss Holley testified Friday at a hearing on a petition to have the accused, Henry Clay Warth, given a mental examination.

Warth, who will be 29 Sunday, admitted in a signed statement to police that he shot down Linda Qualls, 12, and her 13-year-old cousin, Penny Qualls, as they were babysitting with his two children March 11.

Police arrested him six hours later. His only explanation was that he had been drinking and the shooting "just happened."

His mother, Mrs. Lillian Blevins, testified a childhood illness had left him deaf and he only completed the seventh grade in school.

"He was so nervous and he had such headaches," she said, "Yes, I think he is a sick man."

Judge Ernest E. Winters took the petition under advisement in Common Pleas Court and said he would announce his decision next week.

Blind Stockholders Benefit

Utility Goes On 'Record'

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has gone on "record" in a novel plan to assist its blind stockholders.

And an East Liverpool man, John W. Eiferd, president of the Golden Star Dairy, is the first person in the state to benefit from the idea.

He is shown with a long-playing (60-minute), 12-inch disc of the utility's 1959 report. The presentation was made at his office here Friday afternoon by Everett (Tony) Wigger of Cleveland, right, executive assistant in the public relations department of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. T. Fred Edwards, local commercial manager, looks on. Wigger formerly was commercial manager here.

The record or a Braille edition is available to any blind shareholder. Previously the report was offered only in printed form.

Keep In Trim

Exercise Technique Shapes Upper Arms

One troublesome spot where fat is prone to cling is on the back of the upper arms. A reader laments:

By Ida Jean Kain

"My heavy arms are out of proportion to my body. I have tried several methods of reducing them. At present I am going to a reducing salon, but all I have been able to do is to break down the tissues which leaves me with a large flab. Could you advise me of any method or exercise that you believe could help reduce this flab?"

The backs of the upper arms constitute one of those muscularly "dead" areas, for most routine tasks are of a lifting nature which use the muscles on the front of the arms, but fail to activate the triceps, those muscles flanking the backside of the upper arm. The "flab" is due to toneless muscles in this area.

THE RULE ON exercise to tone the important triceps is to keep the action exactly in the groove. The triceps muscle is an extensor, or pushing muscle, so the arm-beautifying exercises are patterned on pushing, driving, and forcible extension ... such as punching.

Loss of the triceps would destroy your ability to extend your elbow in a forcible action. Turn that rule into exercise action ... punch forward with alternate arms ... punch vigorously. The rule is "force behind a blow." Sit in front of your dressing table and punch away vigorously. Really punch and you'll feel the action clear to the waistline.

Thrusting out with dumbbells—or any pushing exercise — is helpful. If your children are swinging, swing them daily. That exercise push is right in the groove.

Any exercise motion which uses the arms from a horizontal position helps to tone the triceps. The following note offers encouragement:

"Between three and four months ago you recommended swim stroke motions to beautify the backs of upper arms. I didn't know if you meant the breast stroke or crawl. So I did both of them, 20 times each, almost every day. I thought you might like to know that my arms have slimmed down and firmed up, and they do look younger! Thank you ..."

Good! Be sure to emphasize the forward thrust in any arm movement. It doesn't take much exercise to keep upper arms shapely, provided the exercise is regular, and in the groove.

SOMETHING AS simple as the routine way of holding your arms as you walk can make a difference. When your arms are down at sides, keep the soft part of the elbows toward body ... with backs of hands facing forward.

If any readers have come upon a novel, arm-toning exercise, let us know.

Unification Of Korea Our Goal, Lee Declares

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Vice President-elect Lee Ki-poong said today South Koreans are determined to unite Korea again, even if they have to use force against the Communist North.

"We would rather die by marching north than live this way," the 63-year-old Lee told newsmen.

"Unification by force is not an ideal goal at all," he admitted, "but the present divided situation is so miserable that to escape from our misery, we think of unification by force."

Club To Honor Midland Team

Plans to honor the Midland Lincoln High School basketball team and Coach George Hamilton were discussed at a meeting of the Leopard Booster Club Wednesday evening in the Serbian National Home.

The event will be held April 20 at the St. Anthony Club and the team will be presented a plaque as WPIAL Section 8 winners. Details will be worked out by a committee including Tony Verzelli, Steve Chumara and Louis DiCiccio.

Hamilton was present and movies were screened of Midland's two games in the recent tournament at the Pitt Field House. Alex Della Valle, president of Midland's Hot Stove League, was a guest.

Plans are being made for a testimonial dinner in May for John Petchel, Lincoln teacher who resigned as football coach after last season. The committee will meet next week to set a date. Committee members include Louis Bruno, William Black, Charles Green, Rocco Ciancone and Melvin Laing.

Plans for a holiday basketball tournament for Tri-State teams in December will be arranged next week by a committee, including Black, William Vinovich, Pete Benedict, Verzelli, Milan Vranes, Hamilton and Laing.

The club will also sponsor a Hot Stove baseball tournament for Little Leaguers in the Tri-State area. It was decided that jackets will be awarded during a membership drive.

Angelo Cellini, president, presided.

Graduation Attire Measurements To Be Taken Later

Measuring for caps and gown for some 145 Midland High School seniors was postponed Friday until next Thursday at 1 p. m. in Room 207, Principal William A. Walters said.

R. G. Ringle, a representative of the Cap & Gown Co. of New London, Ohio, will take sizes.

Dennis Cambier, commercial teacher, will serve on an evaluation committee at the Sacred Heart High School for girls in Pittsburgh's East End, Tuesday through Thursday. A representative of Pittsburgh University will confer with Raymond Stowitzky, guidance director, Tuesday, concerning student admissions.

Also Tuesday, Supt. Ralph H. Jewell, George Hamilton, John Hineman, Gerald Lavalle and Phillip Tridico, teachers, will attend a workshop of the Business and Ecomonic Foundation at the Shenango Inn in Sharon.

Supt. Jewell and Walters will attend a luncheon meeting at noon on driver training and safety Thursday at the Brodhead Hotel in Beaver Falls.

An assembly will be held Friday at 2 p. m. when Hal Harrison will narrate a wildlife adventure movie, "The Mighty Missouri."

Stowitzky was recently elected president of the Beaver County guidance counselors at Aliquippa High School. Their next meeting will be in September at a place to be announced.

One Of 'Most Wanted' Surrenders In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hunted as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals, Kenneth Ray Lawson surrendered meekly here Friday night after nearly a year on the run.

While serving a 12 to 30-year sentence for burglary and aggravated assault, Lawson escaped from the Tennessee State Penitentiary April 22, 1958.

Blind Stockholders Benefit

Utility Goes On 'Record'

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has gone on "record" in a novel plan to assist its blind stockholders.

And an East Liverpool man, John W. Eiferd, president of the Golden Star Dairy, is the first person in the state to benefit from the idea.

He is shown with a long-playing (60-minute), 12-inch disc of the utility's 1959 report. The presentation was made at his office here Friday afternoon by Everett (Tony) Wigger of Cleveland, right, executive assistant in the public relations department of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. T. Fred Edwards, local commercial manager, looks on. Wigger formerly was commercial manager here.

The record or a Braille edition is available to any blind shareholder. Previously the report was offered only in printed form.

Keep In Trim

Exercise Technique Shapes Upper Arms

One troublesome spot where fat is prone to cling is on the back of the upper arms. A reader laments:

By Ida Jean Kain

"My heavy arms are out of proportion to my body. I have tried several methods of reducing them. At present I am going to a reducing salon, but all I have been able to do is to break down the tissues which leaves me with a large flab. Could you advise me of any method or exercise that you believe could help reduce this flab?"

The backs of the upper arms constitute one of those muscularly "dead" areas, for most routine tasks are of a lifting nature which use the muscles on the front of the arms, but fail to activate the triceps, those muscles flanking the backside of the upper arm. The "flab" is due to toneless muscles in this area.

THE RULE ON exercise to tone the important triceps is to keep the action exactly in the groove. The triceps muscle is an extensor, or pushing muscle, so the arm-beautifying exercises are patterned on pushing, driving, and forcible extension ... such as punching.

Loss of the triceps would destroy your ability to extend your elbow in a forcible action. Turn that rule into exercise action ... punch forward with alternate arms ... punch vigorously. The rule is "force behind a blow." Sit in front of your dressing table and punch away vigorously. Really punch and you'll feel the action clear to the waistline.

Thrusting out with dumbbells—or any pushing exercise — is helpful. If your children are swingage, swing them daily. That exercise push is right in the groove.

Any exercise motion which uses the arms from a horizontal position helps to tone the triceps. The following note offers encouragement:

"Between three and four months ago you recommended swim stroke motions to beautify the backs of upper arms. I didn't know if you meant the breast stroke or crawl. So I did both of them, 20 times each, almost every day. I thought you might like to know that my arms have slimmed down and firmed up, and they do look younger! Thank you ..."

Good! Be sure to emphasize the forward thrust in any arm movement. It doesn't take much exercise to keep upper arms shapely, provided the exercise is regular, and in the groove.

SOMETHING AS simple as the routine way of holding your arms as you walk can make a difference. When your arms are down at sides, keep the soft part of the elbows toward body ... with backs of hands facing forward.

If any readers have come upon a novel, arm-toning exercise, let us know.

Unification Of Korea Our Goal, Lee Declares

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Vice President-elect Lee Ki-poong said today South Koreans are determined to unite Korea again, even if they have to use force against the Communist North.

"We would rather die by marching north than live this way," the 63-year-old Lee told newsmen.

"Unification by force is not an ideal goal at all," he admitted, "but the present divided situation is so miserable that to escape from our misery, we think of unification by force."

Politics Must Wriggle And Struggle

No citizen can claim to be an outstanding politician until he is a primary target of the opposition. Richard Nixon has been a primary target ever since he was tapped for target prominence in 1952 as the vice presidential candidate in Dwight D. Eisenhower's first campaign for the presidency.

The least surprising thing that could have happened in politics this year was for Mr. Eisenhower to say that Nixon, who has no opposition in sight for the Republican presidential nomination, is his personal choice.

The vice president has been given unprecedented opportunity to understudy Mr. Eisenhower. This, combined with the fact he is a professional politician with a high aptitude for doing and saying the right thing, has made him the most clearly qualified presidential prospect in the long list of citizens who have been tapped for the highest political destiny any American can achieve.

Yet, there must be the usual "human wriggle and struggle for office," as Abraham Lincoln once described politics. Inside his own party and from across party lines Nixon must be sighted at and leveled on to fulfill his role in the political drama of 1960.

It is not that he has been tapped for presidential destiny; that is up to the whims and vagaries of the voting masses on a rainy day next November. It is that he has been qualified so clearly by vice presidential service under President Eisenhower that no one can deny he is the logical Republican nominee for the presidency in 1960.

Under these circumstances, all wriggling and struggling are ridiculous. There is nothing to wriggle and struggle about.

It is going to be Richard Nixon against the contender who can come closest to making himself the logical choice of the Democrats. If no one can come close, Nixon's opponent will be whatever Democrat can carve out a nomination from the deadlock the Democrats will be in — or whatever Democrat is tapped by the party stalwarts who will do the carving.

When President Eisenhower declared in what was supposed to be an off-the-record speech at a fun party in Washington that Nixon is still "his boy," the announcement was turned into a thunderclap of political excitement. What else could Eisenhower have said! He was lining up with the inevitable, having had a large hand in making it that way.

In the other political camp, Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Comdated a similarly obvious fact a few days ago —that Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy was beginning to look like a shoo-in for the Democratic nomination.

That was only slightly more surprising than President Eisenhower's comment that Richard Nixon was his choice for the Republican nomination. But politics being what it is, there was a great cry and clatter about it.

Politics being what it is . . .

What, really, is it? Lincoln's "wriggle and struggle" comes as close as anything else, with every detail of the wriggling and struggling magnified out of all proportion to its importance.

We Lived It Down, Teddy Boy

There's justice, if you wait for it.

Here's Teddy Nadler, the quiz whiz fellow from St. Louis with the photographic memory — the man who can remember everything he ever read. But this time Nadler is wearing a dunce cap because he flunked an examination to be a census enumerator. All the papers have printed the story.

Nadler is embarrassed. He says it will take him a long time to live it down.

Teddy boy, you should have known how long it took the rest of us to live it down when you, a postal clerk, hit it big on television with your glib answers to questions the rest of us never heard of.

Week after week, our wives, mothers, sisters, aunts, cousins and children glared at us, as if to say:

"Why don't you stir your red corpuscles and bring home the loot like that Teddy Nadler on television? He never made a splash in life, either, but when his moment came, zowie. A quarter of a million dollars. Look at You. You. You."

It was rough. Millions of us mere men never felt so mere before. There we sat — stupid, glassy eyed, inarticulate and penniless while the money rolled in and the Nadler knowledge rolled out.

We hated you for it. We kept saying there was some trick in it. We insisted we had redeeming qualities, even if we couldn't strike it rich on quiz shows. We displayed our merit badges and good conduct medals. And we felt like fools.

You're so right, friend. It will take years for you to live it down. That's how long it took us, and even with the help of a congressional investigation and your floperoo in the census enumerator examinations we still hurt—right here.

Register To Vote

Another campaign to sign up unregistered voters is nearing a climax here, with next Wednesday at 9 p. m. the deadline.

The Election Board office on W. 6th St. again is doing everything possible to accommodate those who wish to become eligible to vote in the May 3 primary — even to the point of setting up a continuous 12-hour schedule Monday through Wednesday. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

It is difficult to understand why anyone would forfeit the privilege of voting simply because of failure to register. Once more we urge all those not registered to do so before the Wednesday deadline.

Death Descended Over Tell City

There is always high tragedy in the deep sorrow of another airplane disaster—the confluence of the passengers aboard an airliner, the shared expectation of meeting loved ones and beginning new experiences upon arrival, the murmur of conversation, the good feeling of being part of the powerful mechanism of a modern plane in flight — then the awful disintegration.

Dramatists have used it often. They will continue to use it often. It was already a standard situation when the Titanic hit the great iceberg in 1912, with a loss of 1,503 lives. The modern airplane has not approached the gargantuan scope of that disaster, but the repetition of aviation disasters more than makes up for the relative smallness of planes.

There always will be this difference, however — that no one can know what happened in an airplane crash. That is the peculiar characteristic of plane disasters. They are always sudden and almost always complete. Even where there are a few survivors, they seldom know what happened.

This time, death descended on 63 plane passengers and crew personnel over Tell City. There were no survivors. Investigators now will put together the pieces and try to deduce what happened. They will never know for sure.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Closed TV in apartment-house elevators so doormen can see "stickups" or other violence has been inaugurated. The system is in operation. This should cut down loud family arguments in elevators and reduce the "hard look," although there are married couples who are such practiced "hard lookers" they may not mind disputes and expressions being seen on TV.

It may even encourage bandits and muggers, since many are "hams" who would not be able to resist the "live show."

Possible court scene:

Judge: You know the charge against you?

Bandit: Yes, I saw me on the TV show.

Judge: Do you plead guilty or throw yourself on the mercy of the television audience?

Bandit: I would like a change of venue to a town where everybody is busier watching cowboys and whodunits.

Judge: You deny you were in a whodunit of your own?

Bandit: No, but I lacked a supporting cast.

Judge: I think I'll record a plea of guilty by closed-circuit association. The pictures show you stuck up Mr. and Mrs. Smith in apartment-house elevator.

Bandit: Yes, but it was no robbery. The Smiths had just returned from the theatre and night clubs and DIDN'T HAVE A DIME LEFT ON 'EM!

HUNTINGTON HARTFORD, supermarket tycoon, has given money for a Paris-like restaurant in Central Park at 59th St. and Fifth Ave, near the famed statue of Gen. Sherman and the "gold horse."

Probably park dialogue of the future: "What's that statue?" "It's either Bob Moses or Mr. Hartford. I can't place the horse."

Since the Hartford supermarkets began as tea stores, will it be excusable to refer to the General as William TEA Sherman?

Mexican bullfight was put on a recent telecast in American homes. After all those cowboy and crime shows it seemed almost cultural.

New York detectives say one-third of the squad cars are either in bad shape or in repair shops. This could lead a TV cops and robbers program in which "Be right over," and "We're on the way" will have to be replaced by "Coming as soon as the engine job is completed," and "Hold the suspect around until we contact our service station."

Legal circles could need underground shelters from blast by Robert Kennedy in his new book. Cries of "I object" are rising from barristers as a result of this "bomb" from counsel for the Senate probe group: "Leading bar association members are eloquent in denunciations of corruption within unions and betrayal of trust by union officials, but they are silent about betrayal of trust by lawyers!"

He then comes across with this punch from the floor: "Although we exposed improper activities by at least 15 lawyers, no bar association in America, with one exception, has taken any steps to clean house." He cites case after case where attorneys, some of great prominence, didn't come close to respecting obligations as "agents of courts on reaching the truth."

Odd Facts

The average business executive, according to one recent survey, consumes from 80 to 90 per cent of his working day "communicating." This would include telephoning, message - sending and letter - writing.

The U. S. productive capacity is the largest in the world. The United States owns 29 per cent of the world's railway mileage, 71 per cent of its automobiles, 51 per cent of its trucks, 52 per cent of its radios, 41 per cent of its electric power output, 40 per cent of its steel.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

In the Steps of Christ

"Now there stood by the Cross of Jesus, His mother . . ." (John 19:25).

And so the end had come at last, the end that was in reality only the beginning for all of mankind. Mary had to be there on Calvary's heights. It took courage to watch Him die, but somehow she summoned it up. She had brought Him into the world amid Bethlehem's squalor. It was to her that He addressed the fateful words: "I must be about My Father's business." And it was at her urging that He began his public ministry at the Marriage Feast of Cana.

It was inevitable that the tenderest of His last words should be directed at her and, through the Apostle John, to all mankind:

"Woman, behold thy son . . .

Son, behold thy mother."

In less than an hour, she would be taking His body to the tomb, cradling it in her arms in a heart-rending scene that would inspire artists and sculptors for centuries to come. Pieta, mother and son.

Hoffa Guides Teamster Wealth

By Victor Riesel

It was a subdued Jimmy Hoffa who sipped some ginger ale at an even more subdued party given him last Monday night in the Waldorf's Janssen Suite by the local Teamsters Union which once threatened to picket New York's Central Police Headquarters.

Victor Riesel

Non - drinking Hoffa was more sober than usual. It suddenly occurred to him and his buddies that when they first planned to conquer New York with a tremendous one-man show, they wanted to hire Yankee Stadium.

That's in the minutes of the Teamsters meeting at the Hotel Sheraton Atlantic in New York City if the notes haven't gone the way of other embarrassing Teamsters records.

The big ball park seats 65,000. Jimmy thought that would be easy to fill since there are about 250,000 Teamsters in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area and another 50,000 in the northern counties.

BUT THOSE of the inner circle who have no stardust in their eyes prevailed. They rented Madison Square Garden and it's now recorded that their off-Broadway show did a bad business, drawing only some 8,000.

Of these, less than 5,000 were rank-and-file Teamster unionists. But what is not recorded is something Jimmy shouted at them to assure the faithful in the big barn that they still had power despite the symbolic yawning of the half empty boxing and wrestling Taj Mahal.

"Some say that the Central Conference of Teamsters has 250 million dollars in welfare and pension and other treasuries," Hoffa shouted. "That's not true. We have 350 million."

There's your story not only of the evening but of the year and the decade. That pool of cash will run up to six or seven hundred million dollars in five years.

There is no doubt that Jim Hoffa's whim is the final word in the investment of these hundreds of millions. These funds are nominally governed by eight trustees—four management and four union men.

If any trucking management trustee has complained loudly against the placement of these loans, his words have been lost to some very fascinating history. Those loans now are reported to total almost 100 million dollars. No doubt they are covered by proper notes and interest. Also no doubt many of them have gone to Hoffa's friends and friends of friends.

There is no effective law covering such pension and welfare funds. The new Landrum-Griffin Act covers only union treasuries.

ONE SUCH LOAN, $2,400,000 for example, has gone to a hotel in which a close friend of the imprisoned Frankie Costello has a huge interest. Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars more has gone to a couple of fellows named Burris for a real estate venture. They were involved in trying to peddle aircraft to Cub's Castro.

There are all sorts of middlemen beating their way through the country offering Teamsters loans—for a fee—usually a 5 per cent "finder's fee."

The latest of such dollar diplomacy involved an offer of almost two million dollars to owners of a small Buffalo steel plant which makes truck bodies.

The fellow who made the offer is a shady chap out of Detroit. Another fellow who has had considerable success in placing Midwest Teamsters millions is one Banjamin Dranow. He's a lucky fellow. Just listen to the testimony of one of the McClellan committee's ace probers:

"We find that from 1954 to 1959, in 10 different accounts, he has deposited a total of $2,944,000. . . . This is his own individual account. . . ."

Teamster money has been put into restaurants, funeral homes, banks, real estate developments, hotels and motels, a private hospital, a race track, a paving company and a trucking company.

These run from Florida to California, from Buffalo to Savannah. It is all legal. And the law is James Hoffa, with the advice and consent of the other silent trustees, of course, of course.

Letter To The Editor

An article in Thursday's Review about the cost of the Thor and Atlas missile engines being only 45 million dollars last year and your editorial "Modern Tower of Babel" brings to my mind some of President Eisenhower's views on missiles. The following are some of his statements:

"It is my conviction, supported by trusted scientific and military advisors, that, although the Soviets are quite likely to be ahead in some missile and special areas and are obviously ahead of us in satellite development, as of today the over-all military strength of the free world is distinctly greater than that of Communist countries." —Nov. 7, 1957.

"There has been no place that I can see where there has been any possibility of gaps occurring." —Aug. 27, 1958.

"Today the so-called missile gap is being rapidly filled." —Oct. 20, 1958.

"The so-called missile gap of six years ago is speedily being filled." —Oct. 22, 1958.

"To disturb ourselves too much that we have not yet caught up with another great power and people with technical skill in a particular item it seems to me to show a loss or a lack of a sense of balance." —Jan. 14, 1959.

"The biggest problem there is in the United States today is to make sure that her own people . . . understand the basic issues that face us and form their own judgment." —Feb. 11, 1960.

During this time the Soviet news agency announced the first intercontinental missile on Aug. 26, 1957. The first Sputnik took flight on Oct. 4, 1957. On Sept. 13, 1959, a Soviet rocked reached the moon. On Jan. 20, 1960, the Soviet Union reported the successful test in the Pacific of a missile that went nearly 7,800 miles and struck to within 1¼ miles of its target.

I wonder how many of these statements are "Babel"?

After reading your editorials, I know it is not proper to criticize this administration's handling of the satellite and missile program. At the risk of offending, I must say that 45 million dollars is a lot of payola for golf ball engines.

T. W. Minesinger of Pughtown and John P. Rice of Chester were elected to the executive committee of the Hancock County Farm Bureau.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Two employes of the Weirton Cigar Co. escaped injury when their truck left the Chester - Newell Rd. and plunged 75 feet to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

The city relief office issued orders to 534 cases totaling $2,404 for the second half of March.

TEN YEARS AGO — Fifteen were initiated into the Gustav Bendheim Chapter of the National B'nai B'rith Lodge at the B'nai Israel Temple.

Geneva Paradox

By David Lawrence

Disarmament Versus The Missile Race

Could there be any stranger paradox than the people of the United States are witnessing today as they read high - sounding statements about "disarmament" issued at Geneva, while the administration in Washington is being assailed inside and outside of Congress by would be presidential candidates for failing to keep up with Russia on the production of missiles?

David Lawrence

Again and again it is being solemnly asserted that America is taking a big risk in "letting the Russians get ahead." Simultaneously in Geneva an American delegation is striving to find some light in the darkness of the international debate by urging that "joint studies" be undertaken.

The purpose would be to provide a "means of preventing aggression and preserving world peace and security, as national armaments are reduced, by an international organization, to be an organ of, or linked to, the United Nations."

The Soviet delegation thinks it's all very simple and proposes that disarmament be completed in three stages within the next four years. In the first stage, armies are to be reduced and conventional weapons curtailed.

In the second stage, all conventional forces would be eliminated and all foreign bases would be liquidated. This means missile bases as well as bases for airplanes. All this, the Soviets say, need not take more than about three years.

THEN, WHEN the West has deprived itself of most of its present means of military retaliation, the Soviets will carry out their agreement? They have not heretofore honored their solemnly given pledges.

What would the West be able to do if the Soviets three years hence changed their minds? The realistic answer is that, if the United States has abandoned its missile and air bases abroad, Europe would be at the mercy of the Communists.

Why anyone in his right mind in Moscow could believe that the West would ever accept such a plan is puzzling indeed and it may be that the Soviets never expected acceptance of their proposals.

They are interested solely in worldwide propaganda which places them in the sanctified position of being against war and in favor of "complete and general disarmament," as they repeat the phrase over the air waves day and night.

Skepticism about the sincerity of the Soviets is constantly apparent in the speeches of the western delegates at Geneva.

The British delegate, David Ormsby-Gore, says, for instance, that there is no use "blinking at the fact that suspicion exists between nations and they will not be convinced that their neighbors have in fact reduced their forces until they have proof of it."

But the West must give the appearance at least of striving for disarmament. So all sorts of plans and proposals have been offered which look toward better understanding and perhaps partial disarmament over a long period of time.

THE RUSSIANS, to be sure, are ready to reduce land armies for two reasons — expense and obsolescence. In this age of missiles, land armies are primarily useful for "clean-up" operations or for "limited wars."

Ever since the United States came up with its "new look" policy a few years ago, it has been clear that sooner or later the Soviets would likewise cut land armies and place their main reliance on missiles and airplanes.

The key to whether any real disarmament plan is going to be adopted will have to be looked for in any provisions that are made to abolish nuclear weapons and the means of producing them.

As long as one side or the other has a substantial supply of H-bombs and warheads for missiles in its stockpile, the pledge to stop producing any more such nuclear weapons will be meaningless.

Until both sides are ready to arrange for the complete destruction of all nuclear bombs and of all means of transporting them, there will be no effective disarmament.

Until mutual confidence prevails, moreover, and the causes that are back of the international tensions of today are removed, there can be no assurance that any disarmament plan will ever be carried out, despite the righteous indignation of the world and its loudly expressed fears of what would happen to humanity in a nuclear war.

"Safety first" is an old slogan and nations, like individuals, are not likely to risk their lives by placing their fate in the hands of those who in recent years have been engaging in organized banditry in vast areas of Europe and Asia.

CAIRO

Ghosts, genies, strange monsters and witches are stalking the "Dark Continent" today as never before.

At least that's what superstitious Africans insist — both in whispered reports and in solemn court testimony.

The latest round of weird tales began with a group of desert nomads near the famous World War II battleground of El Alamein claiming they saw the ghosts of two German generals emerge from a rusting tank and stumble over the sand dunes amid terrifying cries of pain and agony.

None of the tribes for miles around will now dare approach the area of the "haunted tank."

From Southern Rhodesia, a British possession in east central Africa, has come the strange story of the "Abominable Veldman," a creature said to be half man, half animal.

British officials have been investigating reports that this strange creature — known in local language as a towoloshe — bewitched, seduced and eventually caused the death of an African woman.

The woman victim, so the story goes, went to court to divorce her husband because, she claimed, he had left her at home alone at night with the huge towoloshe while he went on hunting trips.

The woman testified that eventually the towoloshe, which she described as a "sort of man with an animal's head," crept into her bed and seduced her.

According to the story, the woman was warned by local tribespeople not to seek a divorce or tell the story lest she offend the creature and provoke it to seek vengeance. But she ignored the warnings.

Eyewitnesses claim that as she was leaving the court with her divorce decree, the woman collapsed in pain and died within hours after an emergency operation.

Tourists arriving from the central African British territory of Nyasaland report that a hunt is on for the mysterious "Ufiti," which is also known as the "ghost of the supernatural."

This shaggy black creature, with a black hairless face, is said to live in huge nests atop smooth-trunked trees. Natives are terrified at the mere sight of it.

One logical suggestion is that the Ufiti is a strange hybrid of the chimpanzee which has developed along its own lines over a long period. Some experts speculate that it may belong to an entirely unknown species of "small monster."

The Belgian Congo, due for independence next June, has been the scene of mass death in an attempt by local tribesmen to wipe out witches and sorcerers who allegedly have put "curses" on native families.

At last reports, officials had counted 241 suspected witches and sorcerers who had died from poison in a mass "witch hunt."

Egyptian authorities have launched their own "witch hunt" —but without poison. They have arrested the fearsome "Witch of the Nile," 50-year-old Amina Attiya on charges of choking to death a 15-year-old boy whom she claimed was "possessed by evil spirits."

Amina, who for 15 years has claimed the guidance of a "chief genie," told police she had to grab the boy by the throat because the evil spirits were hiding beneath his eyelids and "refused to come out when I so ordered them."

Politics Must Wriggle And Struggle

No citizen can claim to be an outstanding politician until he is a primary target of the opposition. Richard Nixon has been a primary target ever since he was tapped for target prominence in 1952 as the vice presidential candidate in Dwight D. Eisenhower's first campaign for the presidency.

The least surprising thing that could have happened in politics this year was for Mr. Eisenhower to say that Nixon, who has no opposition in sight for the Republican presidential nomination, is his personal choice.

The vice president has been given unprecedented opportunity to understudy Mr. Eisenhower. This, combined with the fact he is a professional politician with a high aptitude for doing and saying the right thing, has made him the most clearly qualified presidential prospect in the long list of citizens who have been tapped for the highest political destiny any American can achieve.

Yet, there must be the usual "human wriggle and struggle for office," as Abraham Lincoln once described politics. Inside his own party and from across party lines Nixon must be sighted at and leveled on to fulfill his role in the political drama of 1960.

It is not that he has been tapped for presidential destiny; that is up to the whims and vagaries of the voting masses on a rainy day next November. It is that he has been qualified so clearly by vice presidential service under President Eisenhower that no one can deny he is the logical Republican nominee for the presidency in 1960.

Under these circumstances, all wriggling and struggling are ridiculous. There is nothing to wriggle and struggle about.

It is going to be Richard Nixon against the contender who can come closest to making himself the logical choice of the Democrats. If no one can come close, Nixon's opponent will be whatever Democrat can carve out a nomination from the deadlock the Democrats will be in — or whatever Democrat is tapped by the party stalwarts who will do the carving.

When President Eisenhower declared in what was supposed to be an off-the-record speech at a fun party in Washington that Nixon is still "his boy," the announcement was turned into a thunderclap of political excitement. What else could Eisenhower have said! He was lining up with the inevitable, having had a large hand in making it that way.

In the other political camp, Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Comdated a similarly obvious fact a few days ago —that Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy was beginning to look like a shoo-in for the Democratic nomination.

That was only slightly more surprising than President Eisenhower's comment that Richard Nixon was his choice for the Republican nomination. But politics being what it is, there was a great cry and clatter about it.

Politics being what it is . . .

What, really, is it? Lincoln's "wriggle and struggle" comes as close as anything else, with every detail of the wriggling and struggling magnified out of all proportion to its importance.

We Lived It Down, Teddy Boy

There's justice, if you wait for it.

Here's Teddy Nadler, the quiz whiz fellow from St. Louis with the photographic memory — the man who can remember everything he ever read. But this time Nadler is wearing a dunce cap because he flunked an examination to be a census enumerator. All the papers have printed the story.

Nadler is embarrassed. He says it will take him a long time to live it down.

Teddy boy, you should have known how long it took the rest of us to live it down when you, a postal clerk, hit it big on television with your glib answers to questions the rest of us never heard of.

Week after week, our wives, mothers, sisters, aunts, cousins and children glared at us, as if to say:

"Why don't you stir your red corpuscles and bring home the loot like that Teddy Nadler on television? He never made a splash in life, either, but when his moment came, zowie. A quarter of a million dollars. Look at You. You. You."

It was rough. Millions of us mere men never felt so mere before. There we sat — stupid, glassy eyed, inarticulate and penniless while the money rolled in and the Nadler knowledge rolled out.

We hated you for it. We kept saying there was some trick in it. We insisted we had redeeming qualities, even if we couldn't strike it rich on quiz shows. We displayed our merit badges and good conduct medals. And we felt like fools.

You're so right, friend. It will take years for you to live it down. That's how long it took us, and even with the help of a congressional investigation and your floperoo in the census enumerator examinations we still hurt—right here.

Register To Vote

Another campaign to sign up unregistered voters is nearing a climax here, with next Wednesday at 9 p. m. the deadline.

The Election Board office on W. 6th St. again is doing everything possible to accommodate those who wish to become eligible to vote in the May 3 primary — even to the point of setting up a continuous 12-hour schedule Monday through Wednesday. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

It is difficult to understand why anyone would forfeit the privilege of voting simply because of failure to register. Once more we urge all those not registered to do so before the Wednesday deadline.

Death Descended Over Tell City

There is always high tragedy in the deep sorrow of another airplane disaster—the confluence of the passengers aboard an airliner, the shared expectation of meeting loved ones and beginning new experiences upon arrival, the murmur of conversation, the good feeling of being part of the powerful mechanism of a modern plane in flight — then the awful disintegration.

Dramatists have used it often. They will continue to use it often. It was already a standard situation when the Titanic hit the great iceberg in 1912, with a loss of 1,503 lives. The modern airplane has not approached the gargantuan scope of that disaster, but the repetition of aviation disasters more than makes up for the relative smallness of planes.

There always will be this difference, however — that no one can know what happened in an airplane crash. That is the peculiar characteristic of plane disasters. They are always sudden and almost always complete. Even where there are a few survivors, they seldom know what happened.

This time, death descended on 63 plane passengers and crew personnel over Tell City. There were no survivors. Investigators now will put together the pieces and try to deduce what happened. They will never know for sure.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Closed TV in apartment-house elevators so doormen can see "stickups" or other violence has been inaugurated. The system is in operation. This should cut down loud family arguments in elevators and reduce the "hard look," although there are married couples who are such practiced "hard lookers" they may not mind disputes and expressions being seen on TV.

It may even encourage bandits and muggers, since many are "hams" who would not be able to resist the "live show."

Possible court scene:

Judge: You know the charge against you?

Bandit: Yes, I saw me on the TV show.

Judge: Do you plead guilty or throw yourself on the mercy of the television audience?

Bandit: I would like a change of venue to a town where everybody is busier watching cowboys and whodunits.

Judge: You deny you were in a whodunit of your own?

Bandit: No, but I lacked a supporting cast.

Judge: I think I'll record a plea of guilty by closed-circuit association. The pictures show you stuck up Mr. and Mrs. Smith in apartment-house elevator.

Bandit: Yes, but it was no robbery. The Smiths had just returned from the theatre and night clubs and DIDN'T HAVE A DIME LEFT ON 'EM!

HUNTINGTON HARTFORD, supermarket tycoon, has given money for a Paris-like restaurant in Central Park at 59th St. and Fifth Ave, near the famed statue of Gen. Sherman and the "gold horse."

Probably park dialogue of the future: "What's that statue?" "It's either Bob Moses or Mr. Hartford. I can't place the horse."

Since the Hartford supermarkets began as tea stores, will it be excusable to refer to the General as William TEA Sherman?

Mexican bullfight was put on a recent telecast in American homes. After all those cowboy and crime shows it seemed almost cultural.

New York detectives say one-third of the squad cars are either in bad shape or in repair shops. This could lead a TV cops and robbers program in which "Be right over," and "We're on the way" will have to be replaced by "Coming as soon as the engine job is completed," and "Hold the suspect around until we contact our service station."

Legal circles could need underground shelters from blast by Robert Kennedy in his new book. Cries of "I object" are rising from barristers as a result of this "bomb" from counsel for the Senate probe group: "Leading bar association members are eloquent in denunciations of corruption within unions and betrayal of trust by union officials, but they are silent about betrayal of trust by lawyers!"

He then comes across with this punch from the floor: "Although we exposed improper activities by at least 15 lawyers, no bar association in America, with one exception, has taken any steps to clean house." He cites case after case where attorneys, some of great prominence, didn't come close to respecting obligations as "agents of courts on reaching the truth."

Odd Facts

The average business executive, according to one recent survey, consumes from 80 to 90 per cent of his working day "communicating." This would include telephoning, message - sending and letter - writing.

The U. S. productive capacity is the largest in the world. The United States owns 29 per cent of the world's railway mileage, 71 per cent of its automobiles, 51 per cent of its trucks, 53 per cent of its radios, 41 per cent of its electric power output, 40 per cent of its steel.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

In the Steps of Christ

"Now there stood by the Cross of Jesus, His mother . . ." (John 19:25).

And so the end had come at last, the end that was in reality only the beginning for all of mankind. Mary had to be there on Calvary's heights. It took courage to watch Him die, but somehow she summoned it up. She had brought Him into the world amid Bethlehem's squalor. It was to her that He addressed the fateful words: "I must be about My Father's business." And it was at her urging that He began his public ministry at the Marriage Feast of Cana.

It was inevitable that the tenderest of His last words should be directed at her and, through the Apostle John, to all mankind:

"Woman, behold thy son . . .

Son, behold thy mother."

In less than an hour, she would be taking His body to the tomb, cradling it in her arms in a heart-rending scene that would inspire artists and sculptors for centuries to come. Pieta, mother and son.

Hoffa Guides Teamster Wealth

By Victor Riesel

It was a subdued Jimmy Hoffa who sipped some ginger ale at an even more subdued party given him last Monday night in the Waldorf's Janssen Suite by the local Teamsters Union which once threatened to picket New York's Central Police Headquarters.

Victor Riesel

Non - drinking Hoffa was more sober than usual. It suddenly occurred to him and his buddies that when they first planned to conquer New York with a tremendous one-man show, they wanted to hire Yankee Stadium.

That's in the minutes of the Teamsters meeting at the Hotel Sheraton Atlantic in New York City if the notes haven't gone the way of other embarrassing Teamsters records.

The big ball park seats 65,000. Jimmy thought that would be easy to fill since there are about 250,000 Teamsters in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area and another 50,000 in the northern counties.

BUT THOSE of the inner circle who have no stardust in their eyes prevailed. They rented Madison Square Garden and it's now recorded that their off-Broadway show did a bad business, drawing only some 8,000.

Of these, less than 5,000 were rank-and-file Teamster unionists. But what is not recorded is something Jimmy shouted at them to assure the faithful in the big barn that they still had power despite the symbolic yawning of the half empty boxing and wrestling Taj Mahal.

"Some say that the Central Conference of Teamsters has 250 million dollars in welfare and pension and other treasuries," Hoffa shouted. "That's not true. We have 350 million."

There's your story not only of the evening but of the year and the decade. That pool of cash will run up to six or seven hundred million dollars in five years.

There is no doubt that Jim Hoffa's whim is the final word in the investment of these hundreds of millions. These funds are nominally governed by eight trustees—four management and four union men.

If any trucking management trustee has complained loudly against the placement of these loans, his words have been lost to some very fascinating history. Those loans now are reported to total almost 100 million dollars. No doubt they are covered by proper notes and interest. Also no doubt many of them have gone to Hoffa's friends and friends of friends.

There is no effective law covering such pension and welfare funds. The new Landrum-Griffin Act covers only union treasuries.

ONE SUCH LOAN, $2,400,000 for example, has gone to a hotel in which a close friend of the imprisoned Frankie Costello has a huge interest. Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars more has gone to a couple of fellows named Burris for a real estate venture. They were involved in trying to peddle aircraft to Cub's Castro.

There are all sorts of middlemen beating their way through the country offering Teamsters loans—for a fee—usually a 5 per cent "finder's fee."

The latest of such dollar diplomacy involved an offer of almost two million dollars to owners of a small Buffalo steel plant which makes truck bodies.

The fellow who made the offer is a shady chap out of Detroit. Another fellow who has had considerable success in placing Midwest Teamsters millions is one Banjamin Dranow. He's a lucky fellow. Just listen to the testimony of one of the McClellan committee's ace probers:

"We find that from 1954 to 1959, in 10 different accounts, he has deposited a total of $2,944,000. . . . This is his own individual account. . . ."

Teamster money has been put into restaurants, funeral homes, banks, real estate developments, hotels and motels, a private hospital, a race track, a paving company and a trucking company.

These run from Florida to California, from Buffalo to Savannah. It is all legal. And the law is James Hoffa, with the advice and consent of the other silent trustees, of course, of course.

Letter To The Editor

An article in Thursday's Review about the cost of the Thor and Atlas missile engines being only 45 million dollars last year and your editorial "Modern Tower of Babel" brings to my mind some of President Eisenhower's views on missiles. The following are some of his statements:

"It is my conviction, supported by trusted scientific and military advisors, that, although the Soviets are quite likely to be ahead in some missile and special areas and are obviously ahead of us in satellite development, as of today the over-all military strength of the free world is distinctly greater than that of Communist countries." —Nov. 7, 1957.

"There has been no place that I can see where there has been any possibility of gaps occurring." —Aug. 27, 1958.

"Today the so-called missile gap is being rapidly filled." —Oct. 20, 1958.

"The so-called missile gap of six years ago is speedily being filled." —Oct. 22, 1958.

"To disturb ourselves too much that we have not yet caught up with another great power and people with technical skill in a particular item it seems to me to show a loss or a lack of a sense of balance." —Jan. 14, 1959.

"The biggest problem there is in the United States today is to make sure that her own people . . . understand the basic issues that face us and form their own judgment." —Feb. 11, 1960.

During this time the Soviet news agency announced the first intercontinental missile on Aug. 26, 1957. The first Sputnik took flight on Oct. 4, 1957. On Sept. 13, 1959, a Soviet rocked reached the moon. On Jan. 20, 1960, the Soviet Union reported the successful test in the Pacific of a missile that went nearly 7,800 miles and struck to within 1¼ miles of its target.

I wonder how many of these statements are "Babel"?

After reading your editorials, I know it is not proper to criticize this administration's handling of the satellite and missile program. At the risk of offending, I must say that 45 million dollars is a lot of payola for golf ball engines.

Geneva Paradox

By David Lawrence

Disarmament Versus The Missile Race

Could there be any stranger paradox than the people of the United States are witnessing today as they read high - sounding statements about "disarmament" issued at Geneva, while the administration in Washington is being assailed inside and outside of Congress by would be presidential candidates for failing to keep up with Russia on the production of missiles?

David Lawrence

Again and again it is being solemnly asserted that America is taking a big risk in "letting the Russians get ahead." Simultaneously in Geneva an American delegation is striving to find some light in the darkness of the international debate by urging that "joint studies" be undertaken.

The purpose would be to provide a "means of preventing aggression and preserving world peace and security, as national armaments are reduced, by an international organization, to be an organ of, or linked to, the United Nations."

The Soviet delegation thinks it's all very simple and proposes that disarmament be completed in three stages within the next four years. In the first stage, armies are to be reduced and conventional weapons curtailed.

In the second stage, all conventional forces would be eliminated and all foreign bases would be liquidated. This means missile bases as well as bases for airplanes. All this, the Soviets say, need not take more than about three years.

THEN, WHEN the West has deprived itself of most of its present means of military retaliation, the Soviets will carry out their agreement? They have not heretofore honored their solemnly given pledges.

Ralph gave a report of a meeting which he attended Sunday of the Western Pennsylvania Clean Streams Association. Chief Hineman said that people are dumping rubbish in the borough and if they are caught, they can be fined $50 to $100 by state law.

Next meeting will be April 6 in the Industry fire hall.

Revolt

The President has had trouble in the past with a third force in Bolivia's turbulent politics, the rightist Bolivian Socialist Falange.

Less than a year ago, a group of Falangists tried to seize the City Hall and a regimental barracks in an uprising against Siles. Other armed rebels simultaneously attacked the government radio station.

The army quickly put down the uprising at a cost of 22 dead and more than 50 wounded.

The President at that time charged wealthy Bolivians were trying to take advantage of labor troubles to try to throw out his government.

Bolivia's economy is based almost entirely on tin and keeps afloat only with U. S. aid.

There have been predictions that the presidential elections May 1 may spell trouble, even civil war.

Estenssoro, president from 1952 to 1956, is the founder of Bolivia's major political party, the Nationalist Revolutionary Movement.

Guevara, foreign minister in Siles' cabinet, split off from Estenssoro's movement six months ago and organized his own wing of the party.

Both wings are extremely leftist and not particularly friendly toward the United States.

Maps Sought In Reappraisal

American Air Surveys, Inc., of Pittsburgh, preparing maps of Hancock County for a state-authorized re-appraisal program, is seeking copies of existing maps of county business establishments and industrial plants.

The air-photo firm, which is operating an office in the Courthouse in New Cumberland, has sent letters to county plants and business houses, asking for any plans or engineering drawings to aid in the correct assembly and delineation of properties.

The firm said transmission and pipe line strip maps, indicating property ownership along the right-of-way, are very useful in the program and will be returned to the sender after being photo-copied in Pittsburgh.

Reappraisal of some 19,000 properties in the 88 square miles of the county began in March. The project may take 2 years to complete and the county is limited to paying $10,000 although the estimated cost is $178,000 for a complete program.

Firms wishing to co-operate with the survey service may mail the maps to the Courthouse or call New Cumberland 2851 for more information.

The air firm said inclement weather of recent has held up low altitude picture - taking of cities in the county. The survey firm's field representative is Robert E. Camilletti.

Winter To Leave Cold Audience For Spring

The "actors" on the weather stage change Sunday and Old Man Winter will leave a chilled audience for the debut of Little Spring.

The seasons change officially at 9:43 a. m. and the temperatures should still be in the sub-freezing range about then. Tonight's low will be 20 to 25 and tomorrow's high will range between 32 and 36 but there will be a few snow flurries.

A low pressure area moving across Kentucky today is expected to bring snow to the southern half of the state this afternoon with only light flurries froecast for the northern half.

Salem Man Denies Embezzling Charges

He is accused of embezzling $33,000 from the Farmers National Bank here over a three - year period ending last month.

Paul W. Lang, 47, of Alliance also pleaded not guilty on three counts of income tax evasion. Accused of evading about $10,000 in taxes, he was released under $1,500 bond.

They were held for trial in Federal Court.

when Officer Winters walked in and surprised him, the chief said. On Jamison, police found slips indicating a total play of about $15.

The men were arraigned before Judge Chertoff about 3:30. Each entered a guilty plea through his counsel, Atty. Donald E. Smith. The defense counsel recommended to the judge that a suspended jail sentence would be a greater deterrent to a new offense than a heavy fine. He added that neither of his clients ever had been arrested before on such a charge.

"In an hour of desperation, men will take such a job to get enough to live on," Atty. Smith added.

"A slap on the knuckles won't do a bit of good," Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, the prosecutor, told the court. "These are the first cases before the court under the new ordinance which received so much notoriety. A slap on the knuckles will only bring some of the writers out from under the rocks."

In each case, the judge asked to see the confiscated numbers slips taken from the men, pointing out that possession of such gambling notations constitutes prima facie evidence of guilt under the new ordinance. Then he announced that he would interrogate each of the defendants.

Jamison, first to be arraigned, was the first questioned by the judge.

"How old are you?"

"Fifty-four."

"Who do you write for?"

"I turn in to Mr. Johnson there."

"Who is your boss?"

"I would say he is."

"Who else?"

"All I know is him."

"How long have you been writing?"

"About a week."

"Mr. Jamison, I'm not so naive as to believe that. How long, now, have you been writing numbers?"

"Well, for several weeks."

"What did you do before that?"

"I worked in the pottery for years and then I was in construction work."

"How much do you write in a day's time?"

"I think there's about $12 there."

"What is the biggest day you ever had?"

"About $18 or $19."

"Do you have a regular route?"

"No, I haven't been writing long enough."

After Jamison's case was disposed of, Johnson was arraigned and questioned.

"What per centage does Jamison get?"

"Twenty-five per cent."

"Then he makes $1,500 to $1,700 a year, based on the figures here. What percentage do you get?"

"I get 5 cents on the dollar."

"Who do you work for?"

"Several men pick them up — it seems to be a different man almost every week."

"Come, come, Mr. Johnson, you'll have to be more honest than that with the court. You don't turn over the money to just any stranger who walks in. Who do you work for?"

"Somebody in Canton."

"How many more writers are there in town?"

"I don't know."

"Do you know a 'Big John' in Canton?"

"Yes, I used to. But it's a different man who picks them up all the time."

"Where do you meet him?"

"Sometimes in West End, sometimes over across the tracks."

"Mr. Johnson, if I levied a fine on you like I did on Mr. Jamison would it put a big nick in the numbers business in East Liverpool?"

"It would."

Before pronouncing sentence on Jamison, the judge commented that it was the first numbers case to come before him since he took office Jan. 1 and the first since the controversial anti-gambling ordinance was enacted by Council in late December.

"I won't tolerate numbers and the citizens of East Liverpool won't tolerate it," he said. "I want to serve notice right now that East Liverpool is a 'no man's land' for numbers writers.

"I think we are all aware of what happened in one of our neighboring cities last week," the judge said, evidently referring to the murder of a Youngstown racketeer and his girl friend.

"That was at least an indirect result of the numbers racket. I won't have East Liverpool made into a bloody battleground for opposing racket factions.

"As innocent as it might see, the numbers racket can lead to bloodshed. When big-time racketeers move in, it leads to just what we had in Youngstown."

In addition to the warning given Johnson, Judge Chertoff told Jamison he can expect to go to jail "for at least six months" if he is convicted of numbers writing again. The new anti-gambling ordinance provides a maximum penalty of a $500 fine or 6 months in jail, or both. He ordered both the defendants held in jail until their fines were paid.

"We definitely are going to break up the practice — one way or another," they said.

Operation of the River Museum was discussed. A caretaker is needed or some civic organization to sponsor its operation.

The Soviet proposal was regarded as important.

This could represent a major turning point in the deadlocked talks, although there was no assurance the United States and Britain would accept such a proposal.

It was the first session of the 16-month-old conference to be called on a weekend in nearly a year.

The Soviets have opposed the partial test ban suggested by the West.

A major Soviet move now would fall in line with the Communist bloc's position at the week-old 10-nation disarmament conference also being held in Geneva. The Soviet-led bloc, obviously seeking to blame the West in advance for any failure to end the arms race, have called repeatedly for a nuclear test ban agreement as a starting point for a wider disarmament treaty.

Tsarapkin's proposal was made at the 188th meeting of the marathon conference and the first weekend meeting for nearly a year. It marked the turning point in long deadlocked discussion of underground controls though there was no assurance the proposal would be acceptable to the two Western powers.

Tsarapkin said the voluntary moratorium should remain in force while the three powers conduct a joint research program to improve detection techniques to such a point that a control system could be expanded to cover all possible tests.

The Western delegations have themselves suggested such a research program — including pilot nuclear tests — but did not couple this with any proposal for a voluntary moratorium.

British officials have privately hinted that a partial treaty with a simultaneous moratorium might be a way out of deadlock but the suggestion hitherto did not win favor with the United States or with the Soviet Union.

Tsarapkin's offer thus might place the British delegation in an embarrassing position in the talks if the moratorium proves unacceptable to the United States. The British government has carefully sought to avoid any real or apparent difference with the United States ever since the negotiations started Oct. 31, 1958.

Industry Fund Totals $32,411

Industry Borough Council adopted a $32,411.99 budget Wednesday evening, which it had approved tentatively at its meeting March 2.

Salaries of officers were set, including: Mrs. John Parsons, secretary, $100 a month; Charles Barrackman, solicitor, $200 a year; Fred J. Wilton, treasurer, $350 a year, and Police Chief Earl J. Hineman, $150 which he requested though Council offered more.

Calvin Dunlap, president, appointed a health sanitation committee with William Ralph, chairman, Ross Strohm and Allen Craft.

Ralph gave a report of a meeting which he attended Sunday of the Western Pennsylvania Clean Streams Association. Chief Hineman said that people are dumping rubbish in the borough and if they are caught, they can be fined $50 to $100 by state law.

Next meeting will be April 6 in the Industry fire hall.

are too beautiful to be forgotten. These things may be what men do in this world; they may even be their manner of passing from it. For example, almost every country has instituted a Memorial Day to recall the supreme sacrifice its patriots have made in defense of country and civilization. Because life was the most precious thing they could give, the living cannot forget their gift. They themselves could not ask for any such Memorial, nor could they institute it; that was left to their survivors. Why not let Graham and Wagner artists and craftsmen help you plan and build a worthy Memorial, adding to product-quality the beauty of simple and original design? Complete information without the slightest obligation!

Open daily until 5 o'clock. Evenings and Sundays by appointment.

The Golden Time

When Mom and I got married, golden weddings seemed just as remote to us as they probably do to you. Matter of fact, folks celebrating them seemed like museum pieces!

Now here we are, posing for our fiftieth anniversary picture! Funny part of it is that we don't feel a bit like "old folks!"

Still, a couple can't be married for half a century without putting in a lot of living. Mom and I have. There were times when we were so happy we thought we'd burst . . . other times when it didn't seem as if we could find the strength to keep going another minute.

Through it all, we've had our church. It's hard to put into words how important that's been. Maybe you'll get an idea when I tell you this. When Mom asked me what I'd like to do to celebrate our anniversary, I said, "First of all, let's go to Church. I want to say a little prayer of thanks."

Mom smiled at me. "So do I," she told me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

are too beautiful to be forgotten. These things may be what men do in this world; they may even be their manner of passing from it. For example, almost every country has instituted a Memorial Day to recall the supreme sacrifice its patriots have made in defense of country and civilization. Because life was the most precious thing they could give, the living cannot forget their gift. They themselves could not ask for any such Memorial, nor could they institute it; that was left to their survivors. Why not let Graham and Wagner artists and craftsmen help you plan and build a worthy Memorial, adding to product-quality the beauty of simple and original design? The Golden Time

When Mom and I got married, golden weddings seemed just as remote to us as they probably do to you. Matter of fact, folks celebrating them seemed like museum pieces!

Now here we are, posing for our fiftieth anniversary picture! Funny part of it is that we don't feel a bit like "old folks!"

Still, a couple can't be married for half a century without putting in a lot of living. Mom and I have. There were times when we were so happy we thought we'd burst . . . other times when it didn't seem as if we could find the strength to keep going another minute.

Through it all, we've had our church. It's hard to put into words how important that's been. Maybe you'll get an idea when I tell you this. When Mom asked me what I'd like to do to celebrate our anniversary, I said, "First of all, let's go to Church. I want to say a little prayer of thanks."

Mom smiled at me. "So do I," she told me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ohio State Wins, 76-54; Faces California In NCAA Finals

Bears Beat Cincy And Big O, 77-69

By JACK STEVENSON
Ass ociated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's Golden Bears aim for a second straight NCAA basketball title against an underdog Ohio State club tonight after turning back Cincinnati and its great Oscar Robertson.

The Bears won their semifinal 77-69 Friday night. Earlier Ohio State romped to a 76-54 triumph over the Violets of New York University.

NYU and Cincinnati meet in a consolation game tonight.

Only three times before have teams won two national collegiate cage titles in a row—Oklahoma A & M in 1945-46, Kentucky in 1948-49 and San Francisco in 1955-56.

California went into the Cincinnati game as three-point favorites and will be the choice by that much or more tonight at the Cow Palace despite the high scoring Buckeye offense that led the nation with a 91.6 average.

Friday night Cincinnati and California played a near repetition of their semifinal last year when the Bears limited Robertson to 19 points. This time he scored only four field goals but added 10 from the free throw line for a total of 18 — far below his 34.3 season average.

California's 6-foot-10 center, All-America Darrall Imhoff, turned in one of the greatest games of his life. He scored 25 points and led the comeback after Cincinnati held a 20-11 lead early in the game. Teammate Bill McClintock tallied 18 and like Darrall proved a demon on defense.

Tandy Gillis was the man guarding Robertson, but Coach Pete Newell said later all of his team watched the Big O when he had the ball.

"I'm glad we don't have to play against Oscar anymore," said Pete. "His assists must have set up at least 35 points. We jammed up on him in the first half. We had to overplay Oscar so much they got a man loose."

Newell made no predictions on his game against Ohio State tonight except to say the Buckeyes had "one of the best Big Ten teams I've seen in a long time."

They showed it in jumping to an 8-0 lead against NYU and never falling behind. All-America Jerry Lucas and unsung playmaker Larry Siegfried led the attack with 19 points each.

Lucas at 6-8 made the All-America team this season as a sophomore.

NYU closed to within two points late in the first half, but with Lucas showing the way, the Buckeyes pulled to a 37-28 halftime advantage.

California proved exceptionally hot at the free throw line sinking its first 21 attempts and finishing with 25 of 32. Cincinnati sank 17 of 23. Both clubs hit 26 field goals.

"It's like I said," commented Cincinnati Coach George Smith, "the game would be decided by fouls, free throws and breaks. We got the fouls and they got the free throws and breaks."

'Stilt' Gets Mad; Could Be Costly

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain finally got mad and it could cost the Philadelphia Warriors their chance to win the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern championship.

The 250-pound Chamberlain left for Boston Friday night, his right hand swatched in bandages. It injured in a fist fight with Boston's Tom Heinsohn after the two collided in the first period of Friday night's 115-110 Philadelphia victory.

"It hurts and it's swollen," said the 7-foot-1 giant.

The two teams, now tied 1-1, meet in Boston in the third of the best-of-seven game series.

In the Western Division, the St. Louis Hawks are at Minneapolis this afternoon trying to recoup from a defeat Thursday night on their home court. The Hawks-Lakers series also is tied 1-1, but the Lakers have the advantage of winning that all important road game. They could upset the Hawks in the playoffs for the second straight year merely by winning their three home games in the best-of-seven series.

The fight between Chamberlain and the 6-7, 220-pound Heinsohn was the highlight of a rugged battle between the two Eastern rivals before a record Convention Hall crowd of 12,581.

Chamberlain charged after the former Holy Cross flash, his fists flailing. They stood toe-to-toe and slugged it out until players of both teams, the officials and police broke it up.

Chamberlain has charged all season he was being roughed. His coach, Neil Johnston, has shouted himself hoarse to The Stilt to fight back. He finally did and it may be the most costly fighting back of the year for Johnston and his crew. It's no secret that without Chamberlain, the Warriors resemble the last-place team of 1959.

Heinsohn charged that Chamberlain was as guilty of roughing as anyone else in the league.

Friday night's game was the Warriors' most of the way. Except for five lead changes in the first period, and a 41-41 tie in the second quarter, Philadelphia led all the way.

Chamberlain collected 29 points. Heinsohn's 26 were high for the Celtics.

Parkersburg, Montgomery To Clash In W. Va. Finals

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Montgomery Coach Everett Perkins, who operates on the theory of getting there "fustest with the mostest," scoffs at any idea his Greyhounds are favored to beat Parkersburg tonight in the finals of the Class AAA State High School Basketball Tournament.

The two teams go to it at 7:30 p. m., with Montgomery seeking its first championship and Parkersburg its sixth.

The Greyhounds whipped Parkersburg 62-58 at Parkersburg earlier in the campaign. Last night, they utilized the theory of getting there "fustest with the mostest" by outrunning and outshooting a good Huntington team, by a record 100-89 score in the tourney semifinals before more than 5,400 awed fans.

Earlier last night, Parkersburg unleashed a slashing attack to belt Elkins, 80-54, to set the stage for tonight's finals.

Parkersburg's victory went as expected but the Montgomery - Huntington game surprised many observers who felt that the Greyhounds simply didn't face too rugged a schedule while running up an unbeaten record.

Including all tourney games, the Greyhounds will carry a 25-0 showing to the wire, while Parkersburg is 18-5.

Raineller, 68-64, and Paden City romped over Piedmont, 59-44, yesterday to move into the finals of the Class A portion of this 47th annual State High School Basketball Tournament.

This was Ansted's third straight shot at the small school title, while it was Paden City's first. The Wildcats have only been competing in athletics for the past six years.

Oceana, Romney Meet For Class AA Crown

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Oceana pitted its all-around balance and hustle against the over-all brilliance of Romney's Bill Maphis today at 3 p. m. with the state's Class AA high school basketball championship hinging on the outcome.

Romney turned back fired-up Clendenin in a 56-55 thriller, while Oceana's Indians went on the warpath to the tune of 77-57 against Clay-Battelle in the AA semifinals of the 47th annual high school tourney here yesterday.

Tourney Officials Expect Cage Entries Next Week

Officials of the 35th annual Tri-State tournament expect entries to begin rolling in next week for the March 28-April 2 event at Memorial Auditorium.

Had Connell, tournament director, said that Gengarellas and Alex's Carry-Out, last year's finalists, have indicated that they will enter teams again this year.

Gengarellas, which featured St. Francis, Youngstown University and Duquesne stars a year ago, set a new tournament record by winning three consecutive crowns.

A host of Pennsylvania teams is expected to take part in the event.

Local teams can pick up entry blanks at Connell's Candy Shop on E. 6th St. The entry fee is $15.

The 10 top players selected to the all-tourney team will be presented gold wrist watches.

East Liverpool's other tournament, open to high school players and sponsored by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, will run from April 5-8.

ABC Leaders Still Hang On

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Some of the early pacesetters in the 57th American Bowling Congress championships are hanging onto places in the top 10 longer than many veteran tournament observers expected.

When Western Bowl No. 1 of Cincinnati took the lead in the open team division the second day of the now 2-week-old competition with 2,933, the experts predicted that score would not be among the top 20 after two weeks. They based their forecast on the high scoring of recent years in the ABC and the fact that most of the nation's major teams were scheduled to bowl during the first two weeks of the 79-day-long event.

But not until Friday night did Western Bowl drop off the ABC's "big board" which lists the top 10. Paterson, N.J., Stars rolled 2,940 to take seventh place and shove the Cincinnatians to 11th.

Bellevue, Ky., Banks, which led the open division after the first week with 2,959, dropped only two notches during a week that saw the biggest name teams make their bid. Central Welding of Lansing Mich. has been in top spot since Thursday night with 2,995; and Ottawa Lanes of Toledo is second with 2,967.

Dick Weber of St. Louis, who leads the all-events with 1,947, is the only nationally ranked star atop the standing board.

The doubles division is headed by Robert Wheeler and Frank Iannarelli of Ashland, Ohio, whose 1,287 has withstood assault since March 8.

McLish Scatters 5 Hits In First Redleg Start

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who says Cal McLish can't pitch in the spring?

Well, Calvin Coolidge Julius Caesar Tuskahoma McLish for one.

"I just hope the Reds stick with me," the big right-hander was saying. "I have to learn all the hitters in this league all over again. I'm just not a good pitcher in the spring."

But that was before Friday when McLish, a 19-game winner for Cleveland in the American League last year, scattered five hits in five runless innings against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Cincinnati lost the exhibition 1-0 to the Phils at Tampa, but Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson had reason to be pleased.

"Spring training is for working out the kinks," he was saying the same day McLish did his talking. "If he (Cal) is going to get knocked around, now's the time for it to happen."

Lefty Joe Nuxhall finished up for the Reds and lost it when rookie Jim Coker touched him for a run-scoring double in the eighth inning.

Only two other games were played in Florida where rain has been forcing exhibition cancellations for several days. The Milwaukee Braves whipped the New York Yankees 7-4 at St. Petersburg, and Detroit beat St. Louis 7-6 at Lakeland.

In Arizona, the Cleveland Indians slammed six home runs to defeat the Boston Red Sox 11-6 at Tucson, and the Chicago Cubs homered twice in a 5-2 victory over San Francisco Giants at Mesa.

Lausse Wins, Eyes Basilio

NEW YORK (AP) — An Eduardo Lausse-Carmen Basilio middleweight "natural" was in the works today following the Argentine's sensational return to the U.S. ring.

The 32-year-old South American champion celebrated his first fight in the United States in four years Friday night by stopping strong Wilfie Greaves, the Canadian ruler, in 1:33 of the fourth round of a television thriller at Madison Square Garden.

Only a few minutes after Referee Ruby Goldstein intervened to save Greaves from injury, matchmaker Teddy Brenner proposed the Lausse-Basilio match.

"I might just take it," said Basilio. He was in the Garden to handle his lightweight protege Dick DiVeronica of Syracuse. Dick outpointed Tommy Pachecho in an eight-round prelim.

Lausse was a little rusty and wild at times Friday but he kept swinging away with his potent left hook. One of them finally turned the trick early in the fourth round. The punch caught Wilfie on the head and staggered him.

Robertson, West, Imhoff, Sanders Head Star Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Robertson, Jerry West, Darrall Imhoff and Tony Jackson, four of the five members of the Associated Press' All-America basketball team, head a 20-man squad that will play in the Fresh Air Fund's 13th annual All-Star game at Madison Square Garden next Saturday night, March 26.

Robertson of Cincinnati and Imhoff of California head the West team coached by Cincinnati's George Smith.

New York University's Lou Rossini will coach the East team, headed by West of West Virginia, and Jackson of St. John's.

The game has been designated as a semiofficial tryout for the college All-Star squad that will compete in the Olympic trials in Denver in two weeks.

Dixie Howell Dies

HOLLWYOOD, Fla. (AP)—Millard Fillmore (Dixie) Howell, former major league pitcher, was stricken by a fatal heart attack Friday shortly after a spring training workout with the Indianapolis Indians. Howell, 40, died at a hospital a few hours after the attack. He had pitched for the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York (Madison Square Garden) — Eduardo Lausse, 160¼, Argentina, stopped Wilfie Greaves, 160, Edmonton, Canada, 4.

Indians Catcher White Ready To Quit, Report Says

BOSTON (AP)—Catcher Sammy White is ready to quit baseball because of a business conflict, the Boston Globe said today.

White, a regular major league receiver since 1952, was traded to Cleveland by Boston earlier this week. He has a heavy financial interest in a local bowling alley at stake.

The Globe quoted White's wife as saying she expects him to retire from baseball within a few days and spend all his time on the bowling enterprise.

If White retires, the trade is almost certain to be nullified by Commissioner Ford Frick. All that would be required is a formal complaint from Cleveland.

The "no deal" ruling wouldn't affect White's retirement but would send Russ Nixon back to the Indians and leave the Red Sox without an experienced big league receiver.

Tigers Hire Cochrane

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, one of the greatest players ever to wear a Detroit baseball uniform, has been hired by the Tigers as a special instructor here for minor league players. Cochrane, one of the game's greatest catchers, will work mainly with the young backstops.

Eight of the 17 members of the 1960 Michigan State wrestling team come from the area around Lansing.

Tandy Gillis was the man guarding Robertson, but Coach Pete Newell said later all of his team watched the Big O when he had the ball.

"I'm glad we don't have to play against Oscar anymore," said Pete. "His assists must have set up at least 35 points. We jammed up on him in the first half. We had to overplay Oscar so much they got a man loose."

Newell made no predictions on his game against Ohio State tonight except to say the Buckeyes had "one of the best Big Ten teams I've seen in a long time."

They showed it in jumping to an 8-0 lead against NYU and never falling behind. All-America Jerry Lucas and unsung playmaker Larry Siegfried led the attack with 19 points each.

Lucas at 6-8 made the All-America team this season as a sophomore.

NYU closed to within two points late in the first half, but with Lucas showing the way, the Buckeyes pulled to a 37-28 halftime advantage.

California proved exceptionally hot at the free throw line sinking its first 21 attempts and finishing with 25 of 32. Cincinnati sank 17 of 23. Both clubs hit 26 field goals.

"It's like I said," commented Cincinnati Coach George Smith, "the game would be decided by fouls, free throws and breaks. We got the fouls and they got the free throws and breaks."

'Stilt' Gets Mad; Could Be Costly

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain finally got mad and it could cost the Philadelphia Warriors their chance to win the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern championship.

The 250-pound Chamberlain left for Boston Friday night, his right hand swatched in bandages. It injured in a fist fight with Boston's Tom Heinsohn after the two collided in the first period of Friday night's 115-110 Philadelphia victory.

"It hurts and it's swollen," said the 7-foot-1 giant.

The two teams, now tied 1-1, meet in Boston in the third of the best-of-seven game series.

In the Western Division, the St. Louis Hawks are at Minneapolis this afternoon trying to recoup from a defeat Thursday night on their home court. The Hawks-Lakers series also is tied 1-1, but the Lakers have the advantage of winning that all important road game. They could upset the Hawks in the playoffs for the second straight year merely by winning their three home games in the best-of-seven series.

The fight between Chamberlain and the 6-7, 220-pound Heinsohn was the highlight of a rugged battle between the two Eastern rivals before a record Convention Hall crowd of 12,581.

Chamberlain charged after the former Holy Cross flash, his fists flailing. They stood toe-to-toe and slugged it out until players of both teams, the officials and police broke it up.

Chamberlain has charged all season he was being roughed. His coach, Neil Johnston, has shouted himself hoarse to The Stilt to fight back. He finally did and it may be the most costly fighting back of the year for Johnston and his crew. It's no secret that without Chamberlain, the Warriors resemble the last-place team of 1959.

Heinsohn charged that Chamberlain was as guilty of roughing as anyone else in the league.

Friday night's game was the Warriors' most of the way. Except for five lead changes in the first period, and a 41-41 tie in the second quarter, Philadelphia led all the way.

Chamberlain collected 29 points. Heinsohn's 26 were high for the Celtics.

Parkersburg, Montgomery To Clash In W. Va. Finals

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Montgomery Coach Everett Perkins, who operates on the theory of getting there "fustest with the mostest," scoffs at any idea his Greyhounds are favored to beat Parkersburg tonight in the finals of the Class AAA State High School Basketball Tournament.

The two teams go to it at 7:30 p. m., with Montgomery seeking its first championship and Parkersburg its sixth.

The Greyhounds whipped Parkersburg 62-58 at Parkersburg earlier in the campaign. Last night, they utilized the theory of getting there "fustest with the mostest" by outrunning and outshooting a good Huntington team, by a record 100-89 score in the tourney semifinals before more than 5,400 awed fans.

Earlier last night, Parkersburg unleashed a slashing attack to belt Elkins, 80-54, to set the stage for tonight's finals.

Parkersburg's victory went as expected but the Montgomery - Huntington game surprised many observers who felt that the Greyhounds simply didn't face too rugged a schedule while running up an unbeaten record.

Including all tourney games, the Greyhounds will carry a 25-0 showing to the wire, while Parkersburg is 18-5.

This was Ansted's third straight shot at the small school title, while it was Paden City's first. The Wildcats have only been competing in athletics for the past six years.

Oceana, Romney Meet For Class AA Crown

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Oceana pitted its all-around balance and hustle against the over-all brilliance of Romney's Bill Maphis today at 3 p. m. with the state's Class AA high school basketball championship hinging on the outcome.

Romney turned back fired-up Clendenin in a 56-55 thriller, while Oceana's Indians went on the warpath to the tune of 77-57 against Clay-Battelle in the AA semifinals of the 47th annual high school tourney here yesterday.

Gengarellas, which featured St. Francis, Youngstown University and Duquesne stars a year ago, set a new tournament record by winning three consecutive crowns.

A host of Pennsylvania teams is expected to take part in the event.

ABC Leaders Still Hang On

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Some of the early pacesetters in the 57th American Bowling Congress championships are hanging onto places in the top 10 longer than many veteran tournament observers expected.

When Western Bowl No. 1 of Cincinnati took the lead in the open team division the second day of the now 2-week-old competition with 2,933, the experts predicted that score would not be among the top 20 after two weeks. They based their forecast on the high scoring of recent years in the ABC and the fact that most of the nation's major teams were scheduled to bowl during the first two weeks of the 79-day-long event.

But not until Friday night did Western Bowl drop off the ABC's "big board" which lists the top 10. Paterson, N.J., Stars rolled 2,940 to take seventh place and shove the Cincinnatians to 11th.

Bellevue, Ky., Banks, which led the open division after the first week with 2,959, dropped only two notches during a week that saw the biggest name teams make their bid. Central Welding of Lansing Mich. has been in top spot since Thursday night with 2,995; and Ottawa Lanes of Toledo is second with 2,967.

Dick Weber of St. Louis, who leads the all-events with 1,947, is the only nationally ranked star atop the standing board.

The doubles division is headed by Robert Wheeler and Frank Iannarelli of Ashland, Ohio, whose 1,287 has withstood assault since March 8.

McLish Scatters 5 Hits In First Redleg Start

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who says Cal McLish can't pitch in the spring?

Well, Calvin Coolidge Julius Caesar Tuskahoma McLish for one.

"I just hope the Reds stick with me," the big right-hander was saying. "I have to learn all the hitters in this league all over again. I'm just not a good pitcher in the spring."

But that was before Friday when McLish, a 19-game winner for Cleveland in the American League last year, scattered five hits in five runless innings against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Cincinnati lost the exhibition 1-0 to the Phils at Tampa, but Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson had reason to be pleased.

"Spring training is for working out the kinks," he was saying the same day McLish did his talking. "If he (Cal) is going to get knocked around, now's the time for it to happen."

Lefty Joe Nuxhall finished up for the Reds and lost it when rookie Jim Coker touched him for a run-scoring double in the eighth inning.

Only two other games were played in Florida where rain has been forcing exhibition cancellations for several days. The Milwaukee Braves whipped the New York Yankees 7-4 at St. Petersburg, and Detroit beat St. Louis 7-6 at Lakeland.

In Arizona, the Cleveland Indians slammed six home runs to defeat the Boston Red Sox 11-6 at Tucson, and the Chicago Cubs homered twice in a 5-2 victory over San Francisco Giants at Mesa.

Indians Catcher White Ready To Quit, Report Says

BOSTON (AP)—Catcher Sammy White is ready to quit baseball because of a business conflict, the Boston Globe said today.

White, a regular major league receiver since 1952, was traded to Cleveland by Boston earlier this week. He has a heavy financial interest in a local bowling alley at stake.

The Globe quoted White's wife as saying she expects him to retire from baseball within a few days and spend all his time on the bowling enterprise.

If White retires, the trade is almost certain to be nullified by Commissioner Ford Frick. All that would be required is a formal complaint from Cleveland.

The "no deal" ruling wouldn't affect White's retirement but would send Russ Nixon back to the Indians and leave the Red Sox without an experienced big league receiver.

Tigers Hire Cochrane

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, one of the greatest players ever to wear a Detroit baseball uniform, has been hired by the Tigers as a special instructor here for minor league players. Cochrane, one of the game's greatest catchers, will work mainly with the young backstops.

Lausse Wins, Eyes Basilio

NEW YORK (AP) — An Eduardo Lausse-Carmen Basilio middleweight "natural" was in the works today following the Argentine's sensational return to the U.S. ring.

The 32-year-old South American champion celebrated his first fight in the United States in four years Friday night by stopping strong Wilfie Greaves, the Canadian ruler, in 1:33 of the fourth round of a television thriller at Madison Square Garden.

Only a few minutes after Referee Ruby Goldstein intervened to save Greaves from injury, matchmaker Teddy Brenner proposed the Lausse-Basilio match.

"I might just take it," said Basilio. He was in the Garden to handle his lightweight protege Dick DiVeronica of Syracuse. Dick outpointed Tommy Pachecho in an eight-round prelim.

Lausse was a little rusty and wild at times Friday but he kept swinging away with his potent left hook. One of them finally turned the trick early in the fourth round. The punch caught Wilfie on the head and staggered him.

Eight of the 17 members of the 1960 Michigan State wrestling team come from the area around Lansing.

Bradley Picked To Beat Providence In NIT Finals

Drug Scare To Sophomore Star Resolved

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley, with a drug scare to star sophomore Chet Walker apparently resolved, rules a four-point favorite over pesky Providence in the championship game of the National Basketball Tournament today.

The top-seeded Braves (26-2), playing in the NIT final for the third time in four years, meet Providence (24-4) in a nationally televised (NBC) title game at 4 p.m., EST, following a third-place game between St. Bonaventure and Utah State.

"We've had our hands full trying to get ready for Providence and I'm glad this orange juice matter seems over," said Bradley Coach Chuck Orsborn after a police laboratory report and a doctor indicated Friday that it was uncontaminated juice that Walker drank before the team's 82-71 victory over St. Bonaventure Thursday night. The juice was brought to Walker's hotel room by a young man about 19 or 20 dressed as a bellhop.

The 6-7 Walker, a baby-faced Negro from Benton Harbor, Mich., who leads Bradley in scoring with a 22-point average, has spent most of the time in bed since he became ill during the game with the Bonnies.

"I expect Walker to play, but I probably will have to use him in a limited capacity a g a i n" said Orsborn. Tired, weak, and nauseous during the semifinal, Walker played only 23 minutes but still led the scoring with 27 points.

Dayton And Northwestern Eye Region Titles Tonight

By HAL PARIS
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Dayton Roosevelt and Northwestern lead a talented array of high school basketball teams into the Class AA and A regional finals at eight sites tonight.

The top-ranked Teddies, who won the state crown in 1934, mauled tournament-tough Middletown, 95-63, in the feature of semi-final action Friday night.

Ray Brown, a rugged 6-foot-5 center, dunked in 35 points to pace the Dayton quintet to its 24th consecutive triumph.

Middletown, which has won the state title seven times, was out of contention after the first few minutes. The Teddies held a 20-point margin at halftime.

Cincinnati Western Hills (19-5) won the unenviable task of battling the Teddies tonight by shading Urbana 46-41. Urbana, trailing by as many as 15, cut the deficit to two points after three-quarters but could never catch up.

In other action Friday, Canton Timken kept its unbeaten string intact with a nip-and-tuck 54-52 conquest of determined Portsmouth. Canton (23-0) battles upstart Newark (21-3) which eliminated Steubenville, 69-58, on the strength of a strong first half performance in the Columbus doubleheader.

In the Toledo regional, Toledo Scott, ranked seventh in The AP poll, got by Eastwood, 63-56, as Ray Wolford registered 32 points, and Elyria kayoed Marion Harding, 67-60. Scott (21-2) faces rugged Elyria (21-3) in a battle for a ticket to the state meet next weekend at Columbus.

In the fourth regional at Kent, Cleveland East Tech (21-1), ranked second and seeking a third straight state championship, goes against Akron East (15-8). Both teams reached the finals with victories earlier in the week.

In the smaller school class, top-rated Northwestern of Wayne County (26-0) turned back Hiland of Holmes County 47-41, but may have suffered a staggering blow in the process. The Huskies lost their top scorer, Dave Fuhrman, for tonight's game and perhaps for the season, when the 6-3 senior who has been averaging 20 points a game sustained a disjointed tendon in his leg.

The Huskies, who copped all the marbles in 1958, meet Frazeysburg's Red Raiders (25-1). The latter quintet upset Lowellville 57-46 as Jim Somers paced the way with 19 points.

Bob Hoover was Ashville's hero in the Troy regional, hitting a driving layup in an overtime session for Ashville's 68-66 win over Trenton. All-winning Salem Local (24-0), behind Al Thrasher's 25 markers, trounced Arcanum, 73-56. Arcanum won the title in 1956.

Salem puts its victory skein on the line against Ashville (25-2) in the regional windup.

At Lima, Tom Thieman's 26 points helped New Bremen oust Leipsic, 71-51, and Lykens toppled Oakwood, 58-39. New Bremen (25-2) goes against the formidable Lykens team, which has a 23-1 mark.

In the r e g i o n a l windup at Athens, potent New Boston (23-0) meets upset-minded Glenford (22-5). Both scored semi-final triumphs earlier in the week.

Five School Districts Denied Right To Submit Bond Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five Ohio school districts have been denied permission to submit bond issues to a popular vote.

The State Board of Tax Appeals' action Friday is the first of its type in years. The districts were turned down Monday on the bond issue proposals by the State Board of Education because it wants them to consolidate with other districts in view of their small enrollment.

Affected are:

Southwest Local in Mercer and Darke counties, which wanted to put a $544,000 bond issue to a vote May 3; Townsend Twp. Local, Sandusky County, $133,000 May 3; Old Fort Local, Seneca, $315,000 May 3; Southeastern Local, Clark $595,000 May 3, and Fort Loramie Local, Shelby, $335,000 Nov. 8.

All sought to add classrooms.

The Board of Education's action came under a law passed by the last Legislature which makes it necessary to get board approval before submitting a bond issue amounting to six to nine per cent of the district's property value.

The tax appeals board said it had to withhold approval in light of this action. Previously, when approval was not necessary, no such similar requests were denied.

The tax board did approve a bond issue application from Cadiz Exempted Village District in Harrison County, which the education board did not oppose. The district will submit a $600,000 bond issue to a public vote May 3.

Jones Cracks World Record For Hurdles

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Uncle Sam's cinder stars, all with an eye on the Olympics, move outside now that spring is almost here.

They wound up the indoor campaign Friday night, and Eastern Michigan's Hayes Jones bade the boards goodbye with a world record 5.9-second performance in the 50-yard high hurdles at the 20th Knights of Columbus games.

It was the seventh straight win the speedy kid has scored this year over Lee Calhoun, the 110-meter hurdles Olympic champion from Gary, Ind., and made Jones a prime prospect for a spot in the game at Rome this summer.

Harrison Dillard, 1948 Olympic champion at 100 meters, who set the 50-yard hurdles mark of six seconds seven years ago, was on hand to present the trophy to the youngster who erased him from the books.

Four other meet records were set in the 24-event program.

Don (Tarzan) Bragg of Philadelphia's Shanahan Catholic Club didn't have his usual duel with Bob Gutowski of the Marines—who didn't appear—but Bragg did soar 15 feet 5 inches in the pole vault to beat Gutowski's 1958 record by an inch. He tried three times for a world record at 16 feet, but couldn't make it.

Bob Brown of Penn State zoomed through the 50-yard dash in 5.2 seconds, a tenth better than the 1957 meet mark set by Ira Murchison of Western Michigan. Central Michigan's mile relay team turned in a 3:21.1 clocking to better the 3:23.7 set by Baldwin-Wallace in 1956.

But Yale's two-mile relay quartet did the big record-smashing job as it knocked almost 10 seconds off the 7:44.5 set by Penn State a year ago. The Eli four did it in 7:34.8, just nine-tenths of a second over the world indoor record of 7:33.9 set by Seton Hall in 1942.

Manhattan also broke the old record in 7:39.9 in finishing second, but was almost 50 yards back of Yale.

Billy Martin Says He's Not 'Washed Up'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—After working around the American League and now shifted to Cincinnati's National Leaguers, Billy Martin would like to stay put a while.

There have been plenty of question marks how he would fill in at second base for Johnny Temple, the Reds' all-around leader last year.

Martin said, "When a fellow bounces around the way I have the last few years, people must get the idea he must be all washed up.

"I know I'm not, but the only way to prove it is on the field."

So Billy Martin Friday showed his stuff against Philadelphia: He started two fast double plays and robbed rookie Jim Coker of a hit in the fifth with a leaping catch of a liner. He also made the Reds' only error.

He didn't get a hit, but his teammates didn't do much better, getting only harmless singles in a 1-0 loss.

Roy McMillan, veteran Reds' shortstop, said he thinks Martin will fit in well in the team's infield.

Manager Fred Hutchinson said, "Watch the way McMillan and Martin work together. They're going to make a great second base combination. Martin has a great arm."

"Better than Johnny Temple's?" he was asked.

20,000 Acclaim Pope On St. Joseph Feast Day

VATICAN CITY (AP) — About 20,000 Romans and tourists gathered in St. Peter's Square today to acclaim Pope John XXIII on St. Joseph's Feast Day.

The day is a national holiday in Italy and is especially celebrated by all who have the name "Giuseppe"—among them the Pontiff, whose name is Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli.

Rookie Shortstop Holds Key To Athletics' Plans

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Kansas City will go to the post with its usual new crop of former Yankees, plus a rookie manager, Bob Elliott, who must get acquainted with a new league and a new ball club.

"Right now I would say the key to my plans is Ken Hamlin," said Elliott. "If the kid can make it at shortstop, we'll be able to go along with our other plans.

"I want to leave Jerry Lumpe on second because I think he is a better second baseman than shortstop. That would put our kid, Lou Klimchock, on third base. He has been a second baseman but I want to make that switch if Hamlin stands up, because I want Lumpe on second."

The latest cargo from New York includes Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern, Don Larsen and Marv Throneberry. Nine former Yanks are on the club.

Except for Bob Cerv and Bill Tuttle, the lineup of last spring has departed.

If Hamlin (.251 at Columbus) makes it, Lumpe (.241) will be on second and rookie Klimchock (.315 at Shreveport) at third. Throneberry (.240) is the first baseman. If Hamlin fails, Elliott probably would put Lumpe on short, return Klimchock to second and play Handyman Dick Williams (.266) at third. Wayne Terwilliger (.267) and Williams are the reserves.

Siebern (.271) or Cerv (.285) in left, Bill Tuttle (.300) in center and Bauer (.238 at New York) in right will be the outfielders. Russ Snyder .313 was impressive last year in 73 games and Cuban Leo Posada (.301 at Shreveport) has caught Elliott's eye.

The catching corps will be headed by Harry Chiti (.272) with help from Pete Daley (.225 at Boston) and Hank Foiles (.225 at Pittsburgh).

Pitching could be better if the youngsters come through. Sure starters are Bud Daley (16-13), Johnny Kucks (8-12), Ned Garver (10-13), Ray Herbert (11-11) and Larsen (6-7 at New York). Elliott liked what he saw of Dick Hall (18-5 at Salt Lake City) and Ken Johnson (16-11 at Portland). He also has been impressed by John Tsitouris (4-3).

Indians' Rookie Bond Raps 2 Homers In Win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Outfielder Walter Bond, a 200-pound giant from Tennessee, is one of the Cleveland Indians' 15 rookies who is not apt to be suddenly shipped back to the minor leagues.

After slamming in six runs with two homers and a single in the 11-6 clobbering of the Boston Red Sox Friday, the 6-foot-6 Negro ballplayer is assured extra attention from field boss Joe Gordon.

Bond walloped one in the third frame estimated at 460 feet — believed to be the longest in the history of Tucson's Hi Corbett Field.

When Bond faced Bill Muffet again in the sixth, he blasted another over the wall.

Norm Cash also clouted a pair of homers, and John Romano and Gene Link hit one apiece for a total of six. It was the Tribe's third victory in six exhibition games.

Three of the eight Red Sox hits were also homers — by Marty Keough, rookie Lu Clinton and Muffet.

Wynn Hawkins, former basketball star from New Waterford, Ohio, gave a good mound performance for the Tribe, allowing two hits in three innings. He walked one and struck out four. Keough's homer was the only run off Hawkins.

Julio Guerra pitched the next three rounds for the Indians, giving up two hits. The second was pitcher Muffet's two-run homer.

Bobby Locke, the third Indian hurler, disappointed Gordon by allowing three runs in two innings and walking three.

In the final frame, Bob Tiefenauer pitched hitless ball.

Anti-Catholic Literature Crops Up In Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Anti-Catholic literature has cropped up in Wisconsin where Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) are battling for the state's Democratic National Convention delegates.

Humphrey's campaign headquarters was quick Friday to repudiate the hate mail sent in from Minnesota.

An aide of Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, said he knew nothing of the literature.

Gene Foley, executive secretary of the Humphrey-for-president campaign in Wisconsin, said he asked the Post Office Department to trace the source of the mail after it had been called to his attention that the literature was being received in many places in Wisconsin.

The literature attacks Catholic churches and priests.

It was reported to have been mailed from Hutchinson, Minn. Postmaster H.E. Jensen of Hutchinson said Friday night he thinks the mail in question had been dropped into a postal box in front of his post office one day last week.

Jensen estimated that about 5,000 letters had been sent, first class, and that he did not know who mailed them.

When Ohio State plays Michigan State next Oct. 29 it will be the Buckeyes first football visit ever to East Lansing.

Bradley Picked To Beat Providence In NIT Finals

Drug Scare To Sophomore Star Resolved

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley, with a drug scare to star sophomore Chet Walker apparently resolved, rules a four-point favorite over pesky Providence in the championship game of the National Basketball Tournament today.

The top-seeded Braves (26-2), playing in the NIT final for the third time in four years, meet Providence (24-4) in a nationally televised (NBC) title game at 4 p.m., EST, following a third-place game between St. Bonaventure and Utah State.

"We've had our hands full trying to get ready for Providence and I'm glad this orange juice matter seems over," said Bradley Coach Chuck Orsborn after a police laboratory report and a doctor indicated Friday that it was uncontaminated juice that Walker drank before the team's 82-71 victory over St. Bonaventure Thursday night. The juice was brought to Walker's hotel room by a young man about 19 or 20 dressed as a bellhop.

The 6-7 Walker, a baby-faced Negro from Benton Harbor, Mich., who leads Bradley in scoring with a 22-point average, has spent most of the time in bed since he became ill during the game with the Bonnies.

"I expect Walker to play, but I probably will have to use him in a limited capacity again" said Orsborn. Tired, weak, and nauseous during the semifinal, Walker played only 23 minutes but still led the scoring with 27 points.

Dayton And Northwestern Eye Region Titles Tonight

By HAL PARIS
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Dayton Roosevelt and Northwestern lead a talented array of high school basketball teams into the Class AA and A regional finals at eight sites tonight.

The top-ranked Teddies, who won the state crown in 1934, mauled tournament-tough Middletown, 95-63, in the feature of semi-final action Friday night.

Ray Brown, a rugged 6-foot-5 center, dunked in 35 points to pace the Dayton quintet to its 24th consecutive triumph.

Middletown, which has won the state title seven times, was out of contention after the first few minutes. The Teddies held a 20-point margin at halftime.

Cincinnati Western Hills (19-5) won the unenviable task of battling the Teddies tonight by shading Urbana 46-41. Urbana, trailing by as many as 15, cut the deficit to two points after three-quarters but could never catch up.

In other action Friday, Canton Timken kept its unbeaten string intact with a nip-and-tuck 54-52 conquest of determined Portsmouth. Canton (23-0) battles upstart Newark (21-3) which eliminated Steubenville, 69-58, on the strength of a strong first half performance in the Columbus doubleheader.

In the Toledo regional, Toledo Scott, ranked seventh in The AP poll, got by Eastwood, 63-56, as Ray Wolford registered 32 points, and Elyria kayoed Marion Harding, 67-60. Scott (21-2) faces rugged Elyria (21-3) in a battle for a ticket to the state meet next weekend at Columbus.

In the fourth regional at Kent, Cleveland East Tech (21-1), ranked second and seeking a third straight state championship, goes against Akron East (15-8). Both teams reached the finals with victories earlier in the week.

In the smaller school class, top-rated Northwestern of Wayne County (26-0) turned back Hiland of Holmes County 47-41, but may have suffered a staggering blow in the process. The Huskies lost their top scorer, Dave Fuhrman, for tonight's game and perhaps for the season, when the 6-3 senior who has been averaging 20 points a game sustained a disjointed tendon in his leg.

The Huskies, who copped all the marbles in 1958, meet Frazeysburg's Red Raiders (25-1). The latter quintet upset Lowellville 57-46 as Jim Somers paced the way with 19 points.

Bob Hoover was Ashville's hero in the Troy regional, hitting a driving layup in an overtime session for Ashville's 68-66 win over Trenton. All-winning Salem Local (24-0), behind Al Thrasher's 25 markers, trounced Arcanum, 73-56. Arcanum won the title in 1956.

Salem puts its victory skein on the line against Ashville (25-2) in the regional windup.

At Lima, Tom Thieman's 26 points helped New Bremen oust Leipsic, 71-51, and Lykens toppled Oakwood, 58-39. New Bremen (25-2) goes against the formidable Lykens team, which has a 23-1 mark.

In the regional windup at Athens, potent New Boston (23-0) meets upset-minded Glenford (22-5). Both scored semi-final triumphs earlier in the week.

Five School Districts Denied Right To Submit Bond Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five Ohio school districts have been denied permission to submit bond issues to a popular vote.

The State Board of Tax Appeals' action Friday is the first of its type in years. The districts were turned down Monday on the bond issue proposals by the State Board of Education because it wants them to consolidate with other districts in view of their small enrollment.

Affected are:

Southwest Local in Mercer and Darke counties, which wanted to put a $544,000 bond issue to a vote May 3; Townsend Twp. Local, Sandusky County, $133,000 May 3; Old Fort Local, Seneca, $315,000 May 3; Southeastern Local, Clark $595,000 May 3, and Fort Loramie Local, Shelby, $335,000 Nov. 8.

All sought to add classrooms.

The Board of Education's action came under a law passed by the last Legislature which makes it necessary to get board approval before submitting a bond issue amounting to six to nine per cent of the district's property value.

The tax appeals board said it had to withhold approval in light of this action. Previously, when approval was not necessary, no such similar requests were denied.

The tax board did approve a bond issue application from Cadiz Exempted Village District in Harrison County, which the education board did not oppose. The district will submit a $600,000 bond issue to a public vote May 3.

Health Board To Meet

LISBON—The Columbiana County Board of Health will meet Monday night at 8 in the health department offices for routine business, Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, said.

FOR OLD TIRED LINOLEUM

It's so easy to put new wear and life in old linoleum. A bright shining coat of Glaxo is the answer.

A Glaxo floor is glass like in appearance, yet is non slip. It practically cares for itself since it seals out dirt and a swish of the mop is all that's necessary. You dont' wax a Glaxo floor. Make the old linoleum do with Glaxo. Milligan's.

Herter Makes Proposal On Berlin Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has proposed to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany that any presummit plebiscite held in West Berlin should be conducted with international observers present.

Adenauer, who called for such a plebiscite in a speech here Wednesday, said it should be conducted by the Western powers.

The United States is beginning consultations with Britain and France — the other two powers with troops in West Berlin—on the Chancellor's proposal. U.S. officials are not sure at this point whether it will be accepted. London has been cool to the idea and authorities here do not like the form Adenauer suggested. Also, they say, there is little time for making arrangements with the summit meeting in Paris only two months away.

Adenauer argued that the West Berliners would vote overwhelmingly in favor of the continued presence of the United States, Britain and France in their city and thus reject Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan to have the Western allies abandon West Berlin to what Khrushchev calls a "free city" status.

Herter is understood to have argued that when West Berliners voted two years ago and clearly showed their dislike for Khrushchev's ideas, Soviet propaganda promptly denounced the election as one held at boyonet point. Herter believes that the presence of international observers would forestall such a propaganda attack this time.

2 Hurt Slightly As Plane Dives To Avoid Collision

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—A passenger and stewardess suffered minor injuries Friday night when a Northwest Airlines stratocruiser carrying 73 made a sharp dive the pilot said was necessary to avoid two military jets flying in formation over Lansing, Mich.

"It was a real dive and it was very obvious the pilot was trying to avoid something," said Arthur W. Smith, Minneapolis, a passenger.

The airline said the plane, Flight 7 from New York, was flying at 16,000 feet when William Smith, the pilot, made the diving right turn of about 300 feet to miss two military jets.

Margaret Higgins, a passenger, and stewardess Sherry Carter, both of Minneapolis, suffered neck injuries. The plane carried 67 passengers, a crew of six.

Health Board To Meet

LISBON—The Columbiana County Board of Health will meet Monday night at 8 in the health department offices for routine business, Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, said.

FOR OLD TIRED LINOLEUM

It's so easy to put new wear and life in old linoleum. A bright shining coat of Glaxo is the answer.

A Glaxo floor is glass like in appearance, yet is non slip. It practically cares for itself since it seals out dirt and a swish of the mop is all that's necessary. You dont' wax a Glaxo floor. Make the old linoleum do with Glaxo. Milligan's.

Herter Makes Proposal On Berlin Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has proposed to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany that any presummit plebiscite held in West Berlin should be conducted with international observers present.

Adenauer, who called for such a plebiscite in a speech here Wednesday, said it should be conducted by the Western powers.

The United States is beginning consultations with Britain and France — the other two powers with troops in West Berlin—on the Chancellor's proposal. U.S. officials are not sure at this point whether it will be accepted. London has been cool to the idea and authorities here do not like the form Adenauer suggested. Also, they say, there is little time for making arrangements with the summit meeting in Paris only two months away.

Adenauer argued that the West Berliners would vote overwhelmingly in favor of the continued presence of the United States, Britain and France in their city and thus reject Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan to have the Western allies abandon West Berlin to what Khrushchev calls a "free city" status.

Herter is understood to have argued that when West Berliners voted two years ago and clearly showed their dislike for Khrushchev's ideas, Soviet propaganda promptly denounced the election as one held at boyonet point. Herter believes that the presence of international observers would forestall such a propaganda attack this time.

2 Hurt Slightly As Plane Dives To Avoid Collision

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—A passenger and stewardess suffered minor injuries Friday night when a Northwest Airlines stretocruiser carrying 73 made a sharp dive the pilot said was necessary to avoid two military jets flying in formation over Lansing, Mich.

"It was a real dive and it was very obvious the pilot was trying to avoid something," said Arthur W. Smith, Minneapolis, a passenger.

But a military spokesman in Michigan denied the airliner had been endangered.

The airline said the plane, Flight 7 from New York, was flying at 16,000 feet when William Smith, the pilot, made the diving right turn of about 300 feet to miss two military jets.

Margaret Higgins, a passenger, and stewardess Sherry Carter, both of Minneapolis, suffered neck injuries. The plane carried 67 passengers, a crew of six.

Lions Hear U.S. Senator

Challenge Of Russians Seen Varied

"America must meet the total challenge offered by Soviet Russia," U. S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy asserted Friday in addressing the Lions Club.

The Democrat from St. Paul, Minn., substituted for Rep. Wayne L. Hays, detained in Washington, at the dinner in the Travelers Hotel. Some 80 attended including representatives of Kiwanis and Rotary.

"We must meet the challenge not only in political and economic fields but in this whole thing we call a way of life. We must make it the best means available for men to live by," the freshman senator said.

The economic phase of the cold war may be more important than military preparedness, the senator said, pointing out Russia may not want a total or even limited war.

He advocated greater flexibility and a broadened viewpoint of international trade to make our economic foreign policy more effective.

Sen. McCarthy declared there is no ready answer to the question of military preparedness. Contradictory statements from the Defense Department shouldn't be brushed aside but the administration should state just what the situation is, he continued.

He refuted the Russian claim of a faster economic growth in 40 years than America has had in 175 years, pointing out their growth came when great technological advances already had been made.

Russia has a political advantage because of its absolute control over trade and commerce and disregard of agreements.

In addition, some countries choose to trade with Russia because it is not technically and scientifically advanced as America is. For example, the skill to operate some machinery isn't as great, he pointed out.

But there also are many disadvantages, Sen. McCarthy said, the chief being that a trade agreement with Russia is a one-way street. He cited a sugar agreement with Cuba as an example.

In addition, most countries still prefer to deal in a world of economy, exchanging goods for dollars and then spending the dollars for other goods.

International trade is a new problem with the United States because previously the monetary and credit systems were concerned only with domestic policy.

"In effect, we have become world bankers and the dollar has become the standard of stability," Sen. McCarthy said, warning that the nation must continue to be concerned with its own economy.

Sen. McCarthy was introduced by Jack Smith, program chairman.

Guests included Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, and Maurice Rapport, who met the senator yesterday morning at Greater Pittsburgh Airport. He returned to the capitol by plane yesterday afternoon.

Council At Weirton Delays Chief Selection

WEIRTON — City Council Friday night delayed action on the appointment of a new police chief after a Council member recommended the matter be set aside.

Councilman George Rodak's request was approved unanimously after the city solicitor ruled that Council had the choice of approving the mayor's appointment, rejecting it or deferring action.

Mayor David Frew has appointed Charles Klug but Rodak said that every consideration should be given the present members of the force before another man is named.

Klug is a veteran of 31 years in police work, 16 with the West Virginia State Police and 15 with Weirton Steel Co. The vacancy was created by the resignation this week of Charles H. Padden.

Police and morgue officials still are investigating the death of a California couple whose bodies were found Friday about 7 a. m. apparently victims of carbon monoxide fumes of a gas heater in a motel room on Route 30 near Imperial.

Water Service To Be Sought

A four - member committee was named to circulate petitions for signatures of residents desiring water service for Lawrenceville at a public meeting Friday night.

Hancock County commissioners, Atty. Frank A. Pietranton, county prosecutor, and Atty. William E. Conklin, representing the Lawrenceville Community Center, met with about 25 residents in the fire station to discuss the formation of a public service district.

Commissioners studied new maps completed by A. L. Stackpole of Newell, county surveyor, which need approval before the district can be formally organized and a water program created.

Atty. Pietranton acted as legal counsel for a similar project in Hooverson Heights in Follansbee. He suggested that the ordinance declaring Lawrenceville a public service district should include legislation for sewage disposal service in addition to the water program.

Commissioners said if 71 per cent of the eligible residents sign petitions asking for water service, Lawrenceville can be declared a district and the way cleared for obtaining the facilities.

If the necessary percentage sign petitions and boundary lines are lines are approved, a bonding company would determine the necessary financial arrangements for water service.

However, before Lawrenceville could be declared a district, commissioners would be required to hold a protest meeting. If 31 per cent of the eligible residents oppose the plan, legislation would be halted, authorities said.

The committee includes Walter Pepin, chairman, and Robert Laughlin, Hugh Eberhart and Charles Nonemaker.

The cost to the county would be the surveyor's work plus that of publishing a notice of a protest meeting.

Sixty - six attended and lunch was served. The next meeting will be in Midland fire station No. 1 with the date to be announced later.

Lions Hear U.S. Senator

Challenge Of Russians Seen Varied

"America must meet the total challenge offered by Soviet Russia," U. S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy asserted Friday in addressing the Lions Club.

The Democrat from St. Paul, Minn., substituted for Rep. Wayne L. Hays, detained in Washington, at the dinner in the Travelers Hotel. Some 80 attended including representatives of Kiwanis and Rotary.

"We must meet the challenge not only in political and economic fields but in this whole thing we call a way of life. We must make it the best means available for men to live by," the freshman senator said.

The economic phase of the cold war may be more important than military preparedness, the senator said, pointing out Russia may not want a total or even limited war.

He advocated greater flexibility and a broadened viewpoint of international trade to make our economic foreign policy more effective.

Sen. McCarthy declared there is no ready answer to the question of military preparedness. Contradictory statements from the Defense Department shouldn't be brushed aside but the administration should state just what the situation is, he continued.

He refuted the Russian claim of a faster economic growth in 40 years than America has had in 175 years, pointing out their growth came when great technological advances already had been made.

Russia has a political advantage because of its absolute control over trade and commerce and disregard of agreements.

In addition, some countries choose to trade with Russia because it is not technically and scientifically advanced as America is. For example, the skill to operate some machinery isn't as great, he pointed out.

But there also are many disadvantages, Sen. McCarthy said, the chief being that a trade agreement with Russia is a one-way street. He cited a sugar agreement with Cuba as an example.

In addition, most countries still prefer to deal in a world of economy, exchanging goods for dollars and then spending the dollars for other goods.

International trade is a new problem with the United States because previously the monetary and credit systems were concerned only with domestic policy.

"In effect, we have become world bankers and the dollar has become the standard of stability," Sen. McCarthy said, warning that the nation must continue to be concerned with its own economy.

Sen. McCarthy was introduced by Jack Smith, program chairman.

Guests included Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, and Maurice Rapport, who met the senator yesterday morning at Greater Pittsburgh Airport. He returned to the capitol by plane yesterday afternoon.

Water Service To Be Sought

A four - member committee was named to circulate petitions for signatures of residents desiring water service for Lawrenceville at a public meeting Friday night.

Hancock County commissioners, Atty. Frank A. Pietranton, county prosecutor, and Atty. William E Conklin, representing the Lawrenceville Community Center, met with about 25 residents in the fire station to discuss the formation of a public service district.

Commissioners studied new maps completed by A. L. Stackpole of Newell, county surveyor, which need approval before the district can be formally organized and a water program created.

Atty. Pietranton acted as legal counsel for a similar project in Hooverson Heights in Follansbee. He suggested that the ordinance declaring Lawrenceville a public service district should include legislation for sewage disposal service in addition to the water program.

Commissioners said if 71 per cent of the eligible residents sign petitions asking for water service, Lawrenceville can be declared a district and the way cleared for obtaining the facilities.

If the necessary percentage sign petitions and boundary lines are lines are approved, a bonding company would determine the necessary financial arrangements for water service.

However, before Lawrenceville could be declared a district, commissioners would be required to hold a protest meeting. If 31 per cent of the eligible residents oppose the plan, legislation would be halted, authorities said.

The committee includes Walter Pepin, chairman, and Robert Laughlin, Hugh Eberhart and Charles Nonemaker.

The cost to the county would be the surveyor's work plus that of publishing a notice of a protest meeting.

The Truth About

"THE FIFTH GOSPEL"

When an Egyptian farmer uncovered new "sayings" of Jesus, Christians asked, "Do they challenge the Bible or confirm it?" Only now do we have a clue to the answer

By the Rev. DON CLEVELAND NORMAN
Religion Editor, American Peoples Encyclopedia

DIGGING on a cliffside for fertilizer one day in 1945, an Egyptian farmer uncovered an ancient tomb and, inside it, several leather-bound papyrus volumes. Today, his discovery is stirring the Christian world from its Biblical scholars to the layman with little knowledge of the Book's history.

Do these musty manuscripts contain a fifth Gospel? Did the Apostle, Didymus Judas Thomas—"Doubting Thomas"—compile 114 sayings and parables of Jesus, some of which are not covered by Matthew, Mark, Luke, or John?

Only recently has the layman been able to evaluate these questions. Last fall, Harper & Brothers published "The Gospel According to Thomas," containing 114 sayings. And in February, Doubleday & Co., Inc., published "The Secret Sayings of Jesus," an independent translation and analysis by Robert Grant of the University of Chicago.

Biblical scholars, however, have been debating the questions of "the fifth Gospel" since the original volumes worked their way into the antiquities market more than a decade ago.

The farmer who had uncovered the manuscripts along the Upper Nile, near the Egyptian village of Nag Hamadi, reportedly had burned one to warm his tea. He sold 13 others to a village merchant for three Egyptian pounds—later, one volume reportedly brought $10,000!

Since the manuscripts were written in Coptic, an Egyptian-Greek language in common use 2,000 years ago, 12 volumes found their way into the Coptic Museum in Cairo. The other was purchased for the Jung Institute in Switzerland by Gilles Quispel with a gift donation.

With Henri-Charles Peuch, A. Guillaumont, Walter Till, and 'Ard Al Masih, Quispel began translating—and, with the "sayings of Jesus," exploding a bomb in the normally staid community of Biblical experts!

Why call these 114 disconnected "sayings" of Jesus a Gospel? they demanded. What about the sayings that conflicted with the teachings of Jesus in the four Gospels accepted by Christendom? And why are the sayings so mystical and obscure?

Only now are cool-headed answers coming to these indignant questions. First of all, whatever these 114 sayings are, they are not a Gospel. In the early days of Christianity, there were many writings which purported to be "Gospels." Church councils, after long study, admitted only 27 books to the New Testament. Those not admitted were considered "apochryphal," meaning not of the inspired apostolic age and secondary in church literature.

A study of the "Gospel according to Thomas" indicated that it was a Coptic adaptation of such a writing attributed to Thomas about 140 A.D.

Then how did contradictory sayings get into the Coptic Thomas? The scholars know that the "lost manuscripts" were written by the Gnostic sect which flourished from the 2nd to 4th centuries and was considered heretical by the church. The Gnostics believed in a redeemer-deity and personal salvation and, therefore, saw in Jesus' life and teachings much that paralleled their own beliefs. Evidently, they adopted the Thomas sayings which fitted these beliefs and invented others for ideas foreign to Christianity.

AND THE curious, almost unintelligible style in which Jesus "speaks" in the Gnostic gospel? That, too, traces back to Gnostic beliefs—and indicates why they were considered heretical. While believing in a Christ figure, they also believed salvation was reserved for a select few who were literally "in the know"—"Gnostic" coming from the Greek word gnosis, meaning knowledge. To preserve their secret of salvation, they veiled their writings in obscure language.

With such a history behind it, the "Gospel according to Thomas" would seem worthless, perhaps even dangerous to Christianity. But many scholars believe just the opposite.

The Coptic Thomas, says Professor Oscar Cullman, a leading Swiss theologian, is of greater significance to scholars than the finding of the Dead Sea Scrolls because it helps prove again that "our four canonical Gospels are the only ones on which we can rely. Again and again, we must marvel at the fact that from the large number of primitive Christian writings only those were accepted as canonical which really came from the oldest time and which were free from heretical tendencies."

Dr. Pahor Lahib, the director of the Coptic Museum in Cairo, examines one of the fragile papyrus pages from the ancient manuscript discovered in an Egyptian cave.

And Gilles Quispel, the dedicated scholar who spent years helping translate the sayings, sums up their contribution to Christianity by saying:

"We may now have an independent Gospel tradition which . . . in its broad outlines of both style and theology, agrees with the text of our canonical Gospels. This shows that behind our Gospel tradition there stands a Person whose words have reached us substantially unchanged."

What Are the New "Sayings" of Jesus?

Many of Jesus' "sayings" recorded in "The Gospel According to Thomas" (Harper & Brothers) paraphrase words of the accepted Gospels, such as this rendering of Matthew 11:28-30:

JESUS SAID: Come to Me, for easy is My yoke and My lordship is gentle, and you shall find repose for yourselves.

Others, however, are totally foreign to the canonical Gospels and mystical in the Gnostic style:

JESUS SAID: This heaven shall pass away and the one above it shall pass away, and the dead are not alive and the living shall not die. In the days when you devoured the dead, you made it alive; when you come into light, what will you do?

JESUS SAID: If those who lead you say to you: Behold, the kingdom is in heaven, then the birds of heaven will precede you; if they say to you that it is in the sea, then the fish will precede you. But the kingdom is within you and it is outside of you.

Why RICH GIRLS Run Away

By BOB DRISCOLL

Their life isn't all champagne and mink; inside these errant heiresses is a hidden fear, and when it becomes too much, headlines and heartaches result

ERRANT RICH GIRLS always make succulent tidbits of gossip. So when Gamble Benedict, 19-year-old Remington typewriter heiress, and well-to-do Jacqueline Gay Hart, 21-year-old New Jersey bride-to-be, disappeared from their gilt-edged world in recent months, they both made headlines all over the country.

As their stories unfolded, wealthy and not-so-wealthy asked: "What makes rich girls run away?"

"Gambi" Benedict, for example, fled to Europe with Andre Porumbeanu, a 35-year-old chauffeur, still married and the father of a young child.

Gay, on the other hand, told police she had been kidnaped and held for ransom for 50 hours, then later confessed that she had "sort of exploded" at the prospect of marriage and had simply run off.

Take Nancy Oakes, for instance. The 18-year-old daughter of millionaire Sir Harry Oakes, whose murder remains one of the world's great unsolved crimes (FAMILY WEEKLY, Nov. 1, 1959), ran away some 15 years ago under conditions paralleling those of the Benedict-Porumbeanu affair. She married twice-wed "Count" Alfred de Marigny who, like Andre, was allegedly a penniless European adventurer. Their marriage lasted seven years before it ended in annulment. De Marigny ended up without a penny of Nancy's inheritance.

More recently, but just as dramatically, Tessa Kennedy, the wealthy 19-year-old goddaughter of the Duchess of Kent, eloped with Dominic Elwes, son of a portrait painter, after a heralded intercontinental game of cat-and-mouse with her parents and the open defiance of several court injunctions. As a result, Dominic landed a jail term, but the marriage stuck.

Blonde, beautiful Bobo Sigrist, 18-year-old heiress to a $20-million aircraft fortune, led her mother's detectives a merry chase before she was able to escape with Gregg Juarez, 34-year-old interior decorator. They were married in 1957 in a civil ceremony and later in a church ceremony. But by April of the next year, Bobo had gone weeping back to mother with an infant daughter.

Eileen Herrick, in 1939 a starry-eyed debutante barely 19, weathered similar restraining efforts by private detectives as well as confinement to a hospital "for observation" and virtual house arrest to run off and marry George Lowther in 1940. Six years later, however, her vows were terminated in the divorce courts.

A DEEPLY TRAGIC courtship involved Bolivian tin heiress Isabel Patino. She was whisked off on a hurried trip by her mother and father to "save" her from Jimmy Goldsmith, son of a London hotel man. After successfully sidetracking the marriage by court injunctions, Patino wearily relented, and the couple was married in a small French village. Isabel died five and a half months later of a brain hemorrhage as she delivered a premature child. Hostilities between Goldsmith and Patino erupted again in a bitter battle for custody of the child.

The Unknown Side of J. Edgar Hoover

You know him as a bulldog-like gang buster and spy hunter, but behind this grim facade is the quiet peace born of unwavering faith

By CURTIS MITCHELL

A SQUARE-JAWED, unsmiling man walks down the aisle of Washington's National Presbyterian Church each Sunday morning at precisely 9 o'clock. He is rarely late. He is always in the same pew, quietly worshiping among many Capital dignitaries.

History lives in the time-stained sanctuary where this bulldog-like man finds peace from his usual demanding routine. To the right of the pulpit is the famous President's pew, brought here from the old First Presbyterian Church that was started in a toolshed behind the White House. Presidents Jackson, Polk, Pierce, Buchanan, and Cleveland were members of the congregation.

Dr. Edward Elson, famous as the President's pastor, begins to preach. Hoover listens intently, as if afraid some phrase might escape him, and his manner seems to soften. Here, in God's house, in the same congregation he first joined as a boy in knee-pants, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation is truly at home.

Of all those worshipers with him at the early Sunday service, only a few know of how he nearly became a divinity student instead of a lawyer; or of how surely, knowing his character and capacity, had he taken that step, he himself would be preaching in that famous Presbyterian pulpit today.

The long tussle between the cross and the badge began for John Edgar Hoover after the turn of the century on a Sunday evening in the modest Washington home of his father, Dickerson Hoover, superintendent of printing and engraving for a Government agency. On that evening, the first of many, an old man with a great, white beard came to supper. He was John Hitz, the first Swiss minister to the United States, a robust Calvinist, and J. Edgar's great-uncle on his mothers' side.

After supper, Uncle John led the family in a period of solemn Bible reading. The faithful already had attended Sunday school and one preaching session. At the end of the reading, everyone knelt to pray. It was a tableau common to many communities of that period, and repeated often in the devout Hoover household.

ANNIE HOOVER, stern and God-fearing, was indomitably ambitious for her four children. Each Sunday, in preparation for Sunday school, she scrubbed John Edgar's ears, combed his hair, and rehearsed him in the Bible verses he was required to memorize. He was a bright child. One winter, he learned so many Scriptural passages that the church awarded him a New Testament. Well-thumbed and frayed, it is a treasure in his library today.

Young Edgar also served as a choirboy. His fresh soprano was good enough for both chorus and solo work. Old programs, if you were to search them out, show a variety of social and religious events at which he was the Christmas and Easter soloist. This continued until his voice changed.

His real enthusiasm, however, was Sunday school. And his closest friend and advisor was the pastor of the old First Presbyterian Church, Dr. Donald C. MacLeod. Hoover recalls, "If ministers were like Doctor MacLeod, I wanted to be one."

MacLeod romped with his young charges, played baseball in the park with them, and carefully fanned the precious fire he thought he detected in young Hoover. He became John Edgar's personal and spiritual advisor.

Inevitably, opportunity opened before the eager youth. "We want you to teach a class of boys in our Sunday school," Doctor MacLeod said. "How about it? You'd be fine for the boys."

"I don't know anything about teaching," Hoover replied hesitantly.

"We'll help you."

His class grew with his skill and his passion for detail, and eventually he became Sunday-school superintendent.

"For a number of years," says Doctor Elson, his pastor today, "many people thought that J. Edgar Hoover was headed for the Gospel ministry."

Why he turned toward legal training is a mystery, even to Hoover. Today, he says, "I really don't know why I chose law. You come to a crossroads, and you've got to go one way or the other. I was torn, but there was never any figuring out the advantage of one against the other. We had no lawyers in our family, and I don't recall that I knew any. But suddenly I took the turn and knew that's what I wanted to be—an attorney."

The "turn" took place in 1913 when he was graduated from high school as class valedictorian. Doctor MacLeod had accepted another pastorate and left Washington. Perhaps his absence made the critical difference. Perhaps young John Edgar felt that he could make his forthright Christianity more effective as a layman. At any rate, he got a job that autumn as a messenger at the Library of Congress and entered the night classes of George Washington Law School. Working by day, studying by night, he won his master's degree in law four years later and moved into the Department of Justice at $990 per year. He has never worked for any other employer.

Through the years, he has made it clear that, though he would never wear the cloth, his mind would never change its religious bent. He is sure that a basic cause of the crime he fights is lack of family religion.

"The criminal is the product of spiritual starvation," he says. "Someone failed miserably to bring him to know God, love, and serve Him. The Sunday school teaches the child to 'rule his spirit' and to place a reliance on God which will not be shaken."

HE GOT his chance to practice his principles in 1924. He was just 29 years old when Harlan Fiske Stone, the nation's attorney general assigned to clean up the mess of the Harding regime, summoned Hoover to his office.

"Sit down, Mr. Hoover," the stern New Englander said. The two men measured each other, the Puritan and the Presbyterian. Stone said, "Young man, I want you to become acting head of the Bureau of Investigation."

Everyone knew that the Bureau was loaded with incompetents and crooks. Efforts to fire some of them had failed because of high-level protection. "I'll take it on certain conditions," Hoover replied.

"What are they?"

"The Bureau must be divorced from politics and not be a catchall for political hacks. Appointments must be made on merit, promotions on proved ability. Finally, the Bureau must be responsible only to the Attorney General himself, only to you, sir."

The young lawyer's eyes did not flicker under the fierce gaze of the old barrister. Finally, Stone said,

Hoover's early decision to work in government instead of the ministry is reflected as President confers Gold Medal for Distinguished Federal Service on FBI Director (Eisenhower's right) and four other officials.

Hoover's early decision to work in government instead of the ministry is reflected as President confers Gold Medal for Distinguished Federal Service on FBI Director (Eisenhower's right) and four other officials.

"Young man, I would not give the job to you under any other conditions. That's all. Good day."

One of his earliest communications to his department, as he shook out its weak and corrupt members, might have been written by his Bible-reading uncle. Prohibition laws were being flaunted by many Government employees, but Hoover warned:

"I am determined to summarily dismiss from this Bureau any employee whom I find indulging in the use of intoxicants to any degree or extent upon any occasion . . . and I believe that when a man becomes a part of this Bureau he must so conduct himself, both officially and unofficially, as to eliminate the slightest possibility of criticism of his conduct or his actions . . . "

Hoover's strictness eventually brought him under criticism. When he appeared before a Congressional committee in 1936, a Senator pointedly asked why the FBI director sent out men on dangerous assignments but made no arrests himself. The implication was clear.

Hoover stalked back to his office and let it be known that Alvin Karpis, then Public Enemy No. 1, would be his personal quarry. Coincidentally, the killer and kidnaper sent word to the FBI that he intended to shoot down Hoover on sight.

Karpis was located in New Orleans. Hoover and a picked squad flew there immediately. They surrounded the hide-out and were planning to move in when Karpis and a friend walked into the street. Without hesitating, Hoover and another agent went after them. Karpis and his pal climbed into a parked car. A loaded rifle lay on the back seat. Hoover took the left side of the gangster's car, the other agent the right. Karpis spotted them and whirled toward the rifle. But Hoover was faster. He grabbed the killer and spun him toward him. Karpis' eyes widened in fear, and his hands went up. Hoover's personal manhunt was over.

Hoover retains his early interest in youth affairs. Long a Sunday-school teacher, he now helps promote such activities as boys' clubs and scouting.

A few months later, Hoover faced another test of physical courage. Louis Lepke Buchalter, notorious killer and extortionist, had sent word he would give himself up if he and the top G-man could meet alone. Hoover, according to instructions, was to walk down New York City's Fifth Avenue —alone. Lepke would approach him somewhere along the route. A perfect setup, warned FBI advisers, for an assassination of gangland's most hated man. A trick. But Hoover decided to take the chance. It paid off when Lepke stepped out of a doorway and surrendered meekly. But nobody questioned the FBI chief's courage after that.

John Edgar's father died in 1921, but the lawman continued to live with his mother in the house where he was born. He has never married. Each Sunday, for years, he and his mother sat together in the family pew of the First Presbyterian and then the National Presbyterian which succeeded it. After her death in 1938, he bought a two-bedroom brick Colonial-style home in the suburbs and filled it with books, many by such inspirational writers as Ralph Waldo Emerson, Norman Vincent Peale, and Rabbi Joshua Liebman.

The softest place in his heart has always been reserved for young people. He is a leader in the Boy Scout and Boys Club movements. He is an insistent advocate of Sunday schools, recalling the juvenile court judge who, over a period of eight years, had some 8,000 boys and girls under 17 years of age brought before him. "And of those 8,000 delinquent children, only 42 regularly attended Sunday school," Hoover says.

His fiercest anger is against Godless communism. "Communism and belief in God cannot peacefully coexist because God's truth is communism's mortal enemy," he says. "Communists and communism are hostile to God. It is a battle between the forces of God and the forces of evil in which there can be no truce."

LAST WINTER, a small ceremony took place in the Hoover home. Doctor Elson, his pastor, made his annual pastoral call on his distinguished parishioner, and they exchanged small gifts as is their custom. The minister gave Mr. Hoover a New Testament, the popular new Phillips translation. Mr. Hoover gave his pastor a leather-bound first edition of the Presbyterian Articles of Faith.

If you had visited his home along with Doctor Elson, you would have seen Hoover place his New Testament on top of several other books on a reading table. On another table, very probably, you would have seen another Bible on top of other books. If you were a cynic, you probably would have considered this display somewhat ostentatious and perhaps specially arranged for this visit. You would have been wrong.

"As a youth, I was taught basic beliefs," J. Edgar Hoover explains. "For instance, I was taught that no book was ever to be placed above the Bible."

No book above the Bible. No flag above that of the United States. This is the text of the Hoover credo.

The question has been asked of Hoover, "Have you ever regretted not going into the ministry?"

In response, he tells of a visit he made several years ago to a small Southern city. "I decided in the afternoon to take a short walk," he says. "I passed a little church whose white steeple gleamed brightly in the rays of the setting sun. Drawn by its picturesque beauty, I saw on the announcement board near the door a phrase which I have remembered. It was the topic for Sunday's sermon, and it said, 'Do what you can, with what you have, wherever you are, for God and America.'"

ONCE AGAIN the suit and coat story for spring centers around checks and plaids. Some bold and inventive, some subdued and subtle, they are houndstooth to horse blanket in size.

The Japanese influence is seen in the new kimono sleeves. Giant pockets are everywhere—often offset by collarless coats which have returned. The accessory picture is still monotone with stockings to match the ensemble.

Though muted colors are the main theme, a sharp note of vibrancy is introduced unexpectedly in most collections. Often the note is red, sometimes turned patriotic and combined with a bright clear blue which only sparkling white can complete. All in all, the picture is so varied that your main problem should be which of the lovely outfits to make your own.

LET'S HAVE PIE!

Family Weekly Cookbook

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

■ Desserts may come and go, but a scrumptious, mouth-watering pie still receives high praise as a popular American choice. Here are old-time favorites with new flavor and glamour touches to add excitement to your meals.

BANANA CHIFFON PIE

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO CHILL: 4 HRS.

Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe or a prepared mix)
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup frozen orange-juice concentrate (undiluted)
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup (2 medium size) mashed fully ripe bananas
2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Prepare and bake pastry; set aside to cool.
2. Chill a bowl and beater. Pour evaporated milk into refrigerator tray and chill until icy cold.
3. Sprinkle gelatin evenly over cold water. Let stand 5 min. to soften. Dissolve completely by placing over very hot water.
4. Mix together the orange-juice concentrate, sugar, and salt. Add the dissolved gelatin and stir until sugar is dissolved. Blend in the mashed bananas. Chill in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture begins to gel (gets slightly thicker). If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.
5. Using chilled bowl and beater, beat chilled evaporated milk until thick. Add lemon juice and continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Fold slightly thickened gelatin mixture into whipped evaporated milk. Pile mixture lightly into pastry shell. Chill until firm, about 4 hrs.
6. Garnish with banana slices and, if desired, orange slices. One 9-in. pie

Lime-Banana Chiffon Pie

Follow recipe for Banana Chiffon Pie. Substitute ½ cup lime juice for orange-juice concentrate and increase sugar to 1 cup. Blend 1 drop green food coloring into gelatin mixture with the bananas. Substitute 2 tablespoons lime juice for the lemon juice. Garnish chilled pie with lime slices.

CREAMY PEAR PIE

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 30-35 MIN.

Pastry for 2-crust 8-in. pie
1 1-lb., 13-oz. can pear halves
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
Few grains salt
½ cup cream

1. Prepare pastry shell (do not bake); reserve remaining pastry for lattice top.
2. Drain pears thoroughly. (Pear sirup may be reserved for use in other food preparation.) Slice pears (about 2 cups slices); set aside.
3. Sift together into a bowl the sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg, and salt. Add the cream and lemon juice gradually, blending until smooth. Gently mix in the sliced pears. Turn filling into pastry shell. Top with pastry strips to form a lattice design.
4. Bake at 425°F 30 to 35 min., or until pastry is light golden brown. Serve warm or cool. One 8-in. pie

BUTTERSCOTCH CREAM PIE OR TARTS

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.

Pastry for 1-crust 8-in. pie or pastry for six 3½-in. tarts

1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
¼ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. Prepare and bake pastry; set aside to cool.
2. Scald (heat just until a thin film appears) 1½ cups milk in top of a double boiler over simmering water.
3. Mix together in a saucepan the brown sugar, flour, and salt. Blend in ½ cup milk. Add the scalded milk gradually, stirring until blended. Stirring gently and constantly, bring rapidly to boiling over direct heat and cook 3 min.
4. Pour mixture into double-boiler top and set over simmering water. Cover and cook 5 to 7 min., stirring three or four times.
5. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks. Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min.; stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly.

LET'S HAVE PIE!

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

■ Desserts may come and go, but a scrumptious, mouth-watering pie still receives high praise as a popular American choice. Here are old-time favorites with new flavor and glamour touches to add excitement to your meals.

BANANA CHIFFON PIE

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO CHILL: 4 HRS.

- Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe or a prepared mix)
- 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
- 1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- ½ cup frozen orange-juice concentrate (undiluted)
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup (2 medium size) mashed fully ripe bananas
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Prepare and bake pastry; set aside to cool.
2. Chill a bowl and beater. Pour evaporated milk into refrigerator tray and chill until icy cold.
3. Sprinkle gelatin evenly over cold water. Let stand 5 min. to soften. Dissolve completely by placing over very hot water.
4. Mix together the orange-juice concentrate, sugar, and salt. Add the dissolved gelatin and stir until sugar is dissolved. Blend in the mashed bananas. Chill in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture begins to gel (gets slightly thicker). If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.
5. Using chilled bowl and beater, beat chilled evaporated milk until thick. Add lemon juice and continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Fold slightly thickened gelatin mixture into whipped evaporated milk. Pile mixture lightly into pastry shell. Chill until firm, about 4 hrs.
6. Garnish with banana slices and, if desired, orange slices. One 9-in. pie

Lime-Banana Chiffon Pie

Follow recipe for Banana Chiffon Pie. Substitute ½ cup lime juice for orange-juice concentrate and increase sugar to 1 cup. Blend 1 drop green food coloring into gelatin mixture with the bananas. Substitute 2 tablespoons lime juice for the lemon juice. Garnish chilled pie with lime slices.

CREAMY PEAR PIE

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 30–35 MIN.

- Pastry for 2-crust 8-in. pie
- 1 1-lb., 12-oz. can pear halves
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- Few grains salt
- ½ cup cream
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Prepare pastry shell (do not bake); reserve remaining pastry for lattice top.
2. Drain pears thoroughly. (Pear sirup may be reserved for use in other food preparation.) Slice pears (about 2 cups slices); set aside.
3. Sift together into a bowl the sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg, and salt. Add the cream and lemon juice gradually, blending until smooth. Gently mix in the sliced pears. Turn filling into pastry shell. Top with pastry strips to form a lattice design.
4. Bake at 425°F 30 to 35 min., or until pastry is light golden brown. Serve warm or cool. One 8-in. pie

BUTTERSCOTCH CREAM PIE OR TARTS

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.

- Pastry for 1-crust 8-in. pie or pastry for six 3½-in. tarts
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- ¼ cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup milk
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. Prepare and bake pastry; set aside to cool.
2. Scald (heat just until a thin film appears) 1½ cups milk in top of a double boiler over simmering water.
3. Mix together in a saucepan the brown sugar, flour, and salt. Blend in ½ cup milk. Add the scalded milk gradually, stirring until blended. Stirring gently and constantly, bring rapidly to boiling over direct heat and cook 3 min.
4. Pour mixture into double-boiler top and set over simmering water. Cover and cook 5 to 7 min., stirring three or four times.
5. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks. Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min.; stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly.
6. Remove from simmering water and blend in the butter and extract. Cool slightly, stirring occasionally. Cover; cool to lukewarm in refrigerator. Turn filling into pastry shell or tart shells.
7. Chill in refrigerator, if desired. Top pie or tarts with sweetened whipped cream and toasted almonds or pecans.

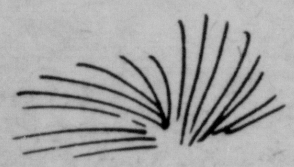
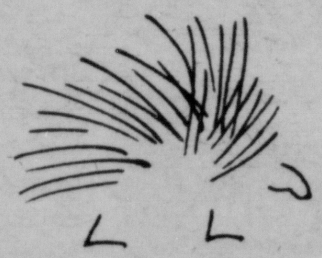
Let's Draw a Porcupine

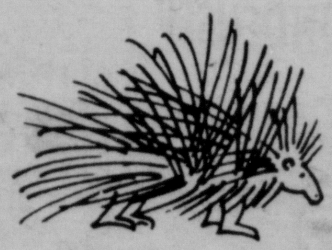
By Ann Davidow



From a giant prickly thistle,



Make a porcupine a-bristle.



Porcupines are worth, they say,
The pains you take to keep away!

Let's Go! By Nat Bradford

This game can be played with eight or ten players. Each stands in a circle and holds his left hand toward IT, who is inside the circle. IT marches round and round inside the circle. Suddenly he takes hold of a player's left hand. That player must take hold of another player's left hand, and each player in turn does the same thing until they are all holding hands and following IT round and round. Suddenly IT cries out, "Let's Go! Yippee!" Then all the players run to their own place in the circle. IT tries to get there before them, and if he does, the player without a place becomes IT.

Evaporated Milk

CHEESE-TUNA PUFF: Pie plate, 9-inch . . . 6 servings . . . Preheated 425° oven

PIE SHELL: 1 cup sifted Pillsbury's BEST All Purpose Flour*
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup lard
3-4 tablespoons cold water

*For use with Pillsbury's BEST Self Rising Flour, omit salt in pastry and decrease water to 2-3 tablespoons.

Sift flour and salt into bowl. Cut in lard until size of small peas. Sprinkle water over mixture. Stir with fork until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on floured surface to 11-inch circle. Fit into pie pan. Fold edge back and under to form standing rim; flute as usual.

TUNA FILLING:

2 cups (2—6½ oz. cans) Chicken of the Sea Brand Tuna
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1⅔ cups (1 tall can) Evaporated Milk
2 cups shredded Cheddar Cheese

Combine tuna, celery, green pepper, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper in bowl. In a saucepan, blend flour into butter. Gradually add Evaporated Milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add 1¾ cups Cheddar Cheese; stir until melted. Reserve 1 cup sauce for topping. Combine remaining sauce with tuna mixture; blend well. Spoon into pie shell. Bake 15 minutes in 425° oven. Remove from oven. Decrease oven temperature to 375°. Cover pie with Cheese Puff Topping. Bake 20-25 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup cheese. Serve at once.

CHEESE PUFF TOPPING: 2 eggs, separated; 1 cup reserved cheese sauce

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Slightly beat egg yolks; blend into cheese sauce. Fold gently into beaten egg whites.

It's like magic the way Evaporated Milk combines with the other ingredients of this new recipe to make a one-dish meal you'll be proud to serve your family—or guests. Evaporated Milk is the magic ingredient. It adds flavor and richness because it is actually concentrated whole milk. Keep it handy!

Get-Together for Spring

The guest was handsome, the hostess divine, the food—well, "imaginative"; it was a once-in-a-lifetime luncheon

A LANDMARK in any woman's social life is her first luncheon party. It's a real test, what with house to clean, menu to plan, table to set, guests to entertain.

Not long ago, Mary Kaufman sent an invitation to a party at her home. Mary is only seven, so her party was on a small scale, in fact a tête-à-tête for one guest, Michael Mann.

Since it was a warm day, Mary decided to entertain on the terrace and to serve a salad. But, wise to the ways of seven-year-old men, she topped the lettuce with whipped cream. The only sour note was sounded by a party crasher, Pedro, who is Mary's dog and jealous admirer. A broom settled his dust, though.

And when her guest had left, Mary went through the ritual every successful hostess enjoys most—she slipped off her shoes and decided to let the cleanup job wait.

A Hollywood Marriage with a Chance?

They've succeeded in everything else in their young lives; filmdom hopes their luck extends to marriage

By ROBERT EDWARDS

IT'S NO SECRET that, for various reasons, many Hollywood marriages have two strikes against them from the start. The Debbie Reynolds-Eddie Fisher breakup last year is a good example. So, understandably, Hollywood insiders view such ballyhooed unions with cynicism.

Yet in the case of Jimmy Darren, at 23 a veteran of eight movies, and 21-year-old Evy Norlund, his actress-bride of six weeks, these same insiders are wagering that they'll prove a happy exception to the rule.

Jimmy, who won teen-age adulation in "Gidget," and Evy, a former Miss Denmark, went into their marriage "with our eyes wide open" and feel that they'll be more than able to cope with its built-in problems, including those long, dangerous separations for picture-making.

"If making a picture means a separation for as long as, let's say, six months," Jimmy promises, "I won't do it."

This isn't the first marriage for Jimmy. The first one was, he says, "a mistake."

"This marriage is going to stick," he vows. "I'm Catholic, and we were married in the Church. I was married hastily by a justice of the peace the first time. Evy's something special. She's not a Catholic, but she took instructions on mixed marriages from the priest who married us at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York. Sure, we could have gotten married 'over the desk' by a JP. It would have been much easier. But, aside from my religious feelings, that's not the way you want to do things with a wonderful girl like Evy. I wanted her to be a bride with all the trimmings that go with it."

The first meeting of Jimmy and Evy two years ago in the office of an executive for Columbia Pictures was hardly auspicious. "Jimmy was pretty well established," Evy recalls, "and they wanted him to pose with me for some publicity pictures. He was in a rather bad mood and wouldn't agree then, although he did later.

"I guess we both forgot about each other until we met at a studio drama class. I had to talk about my life in general that day, and I was nervous in front of all those people. Then I looked over to where Jimmy was seated, and he smiled at me reassuringly. After a couple of smiles, I guess I was hooked."

Jimmy takes up the tale from there. "I asked Evy to lunch, which for me consisted mainly of vitamin and protein pills that day, and she thought I was pretty weird. After lunch, I walked her back to Stage 11 where she had English classes. I wanted to ask her to come for a drive, but I didn't have the nerve. I walked away, maybe 20 steps, before I turned around and blurted out very unromantically, 'Will you come for a drive with me?'

"She said, 'yes,' just as unromantically, and we drove to the beach. We just sat there talking about all sorts of things for two or three hours. By the time we got back, we were going steady."

RIGHT NOW the newlyweds are honeymooning in Europe and meeting Evy's folks in her native Denmark. When they get back, Evy says proudly, there'll be no house-hunting. "We already have a 3½-room apartment in Hollywood. We picked it together. And all of our furniture. It's Danish modern."

Evy's theatrical career is just beginning. She's made only one picture, "The Flying Fontaines," for Columbia, but Jimmy's career is booming. Currently, he's in "All the Young Men" with Alan Ladd, and he'll make "The Guns of Navarone" next.

Besides his movies, Jimmy's singing, which he always figured was just of the "shower variety," has made him even more popular with teen-agers. He sang two songs in "Gidget" that resulted in a recording contract. Since then, several of his releases have been high up on the "best-seller" lists.

With the professional success that has come their way and with each other, Jimmy and Evy Norlund Darren feel that life has been good to them. And the consensus from Hollywood is that it will get progressively better with that most important joy of life—a happy marriage.

I walked away, maybe 20 steps, before I turned around and blurted out very unromantically, 'Will you come for a drive with me?'

"She said, 'yes,' just as unromantically, and we drove to the beach. We just sat there talking about all sorts of things for two or three hours. By the time we got back, we were going steady."

RIGHT NOW the newlyweds are honeymooning in Europe and meeting Evy's folks in her native Denmark. When they get back, Evy says proudly, there'll be no house-hunting. "We already have a 3½-room apartment in Hollywood. We picked it together. And all of our furniture. It's Danish modern."

Evy's theatrical career is just beginning. She's made only one picture, "The Flying Fontaines," for Columbia, but Jimmy's career is booming. Currently, he's in "All the Young Men" with Alan Ladd, and he'll make "The Guns of Navarone" next.

Besides his movies, Jimmy's singing, which he always figured was just of the "shower variety," has made him even more popular with teen-agers. He sang two songs in "Gidget" that resulted in a recording contract. Since then, several of his releases have been high up on the "best-seller" lists.

With the professional success that has come their way and with each other, Jimmy and Evy Norlund Darren feel that life has been good to them. And the consensus from Hollywood is that it will get progressively better with that most important joy of life—a happy marriage.

Lemmon, perhaps the most iconoclastic of all society belles, who eloped with divorced society playboy Jacob ("Jakie") Webb in 1941. Characteristically, her "wedding ring" was a beer-bottle opener. She waited until 1945 to divorce Jakie only because he spent most of the time, including a six-month court-martial sentence, in the Army.

Barbara Billingsley, daughter of Sherman who operates New York's famous Stork Club, ran away to marry John Christoffers, a 28-year-old commercial photographer. Sherman had hoped she would marry one of his more socially acceptable patrons and shed no tears when Barbara returned home five years later.

THE SETTING for perhaps the most dramatic of all rich-girl disappearance cases was New York in the '10s. Dorothy Arnold, a debutante from one of that city's wealthiest families, was chatting pleasantly with friends outside a Fifth Avenue bookstore. Minutes later, she disappeared; no trace of her has ever been found. All that is certain is that she had aspired to be a writer and her family had ridiculed her efforts. This, coupled with a feeling of futility toward the role of "rich girl," has been advanced as a reason for her running—if, indeed, she did run away and was not the victim of foul play.

The police discovered several interesting facts in their investigation. Unknown to the family, Dorothy had a suitor, an older man and a most unlikely choice for a society girl. For a time, there was conjecture that she might have fled with him and that he had done away with her in a fit of jealousy. When that proved unfounded, police concentrated on a mysterious package that had been delivered to her only a few days before her disappearance while she was visiting a friend in Boston. She never showed her friend the contents, but whatever was inside the package caused her to end her visit and rush back to New York. Some believe the package was a rejected manuscript and a final blow to Dorothy's pride.

Another curious fact was that Dorothy's family didn't report her disappearance to the police for some time, although they claimed she had no reason to run away. Even during the police investigation they were reluctant to cooperate. To this day, the case remains unsolved.

Psychiatrists interviewed by FAMILY WEEKLY all arrived at the same basic reasons why rich girls run away from home. "Lack of love and security at home," asserts Dr. Smiley Blanton of the famous Marble Church Religio-Psychiatric Clinic.

"There are well-to-do families where a child, in a sense, is almost abandoned except that he lives in the same house with his parents," says Dr. Franklin Robinson, Director of the Children's Service Center in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and one of the foremost authorities on the subject. "The parents are often so busy that they assign a lot of their own duties to maids and governesses. This certainly produces insecurity."

Disappearance of Dorothy Arnold, a rich girl who wanted to become a writer, is still unsolved.

A New York psychiatrist, who has treated many wealthy children and asked to remain anonymous for that reason, agrees with Dr. Robinson, but explores more deeply: "From my own experience, I certainly know that turning over children to governesses is very common. Then, during the formative years when a child needs close relationships, there's much more divorce, drinking, and casual affairs among the well-to-do, for the simple reason that their wealth permits it. It's understandable that the kids run away if there's such a poor family relationship."

Gamble Benedict herself spoke eloquently for the "poor little rich girls."

"I was miserably lonely," she said after running off with Porumbeanu. "A girl like me, dealing with the same Social-Register kind of people, meets someone like Andre, who knows the world, who shows you a gentleness you never knew. You say to yourself: 'For this, I'll brave the world!'

"We're pushed into socially acceptable schools," says the girl who was raised by her grandmother. "There's pressure to have contact only with the children of our own group. Anyone who does anything different is sent to a psychiatrist."

GAMBLE TELLS how she was not allowed to study ballet because it was "supposed to be bad for my figure"; how she couldn't study music seriously because she had refused to play the piano as a young girl. The result of such an upbringing, she claims, is inevitable.

"They (society girls) marry boys from their own set," Gambi says. "They hate them within a year. Then they become drunks or go from divorce to divorce—or both.

"I swear that this kind of money is nothing but a headache," she continues, speaking about the millions that will be hers if her grandmother doesn't disinherit her. "It means watching business conditions, getting heartburn over income tax or corporations or what not."

One syndicated columnist has a less complicated explanation. He says that the basic reason rich girls run away is the sudden realization—even if it's a subconscious one—that while their money and prestige can open many doors, it can never win respect or love. That's a frightening realization for a young girl who observes others being loved and respected even though they can't buy minks and sports cars—and this can be frightening enough to make the desperate ones run away.
